Washington Rd. Work Is Ahead of Schedule; Other Projects Set

The good news is that, weather permitting, Washington Road may re-open to traffic between Faculty Road and Route 1 this Friday, one week ahead of schedule. If downpours hamper the repaving, it will open next week.

The other news is that there are a lot of road improvements planned this summer involving other major arteries leading in and out of Princeton. On Monday night, Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser outlined for Township Committee road work that is planned by Mercer County and the Township, as well as by Calton Homes, which is in the process of building the Township's largest residential development to date.

The repaving of Washington Road is a County project; the reconstruction of Alexander Street, which includes new curbing to channel storm water and new sections of bike-

Students Arrested for Marijuana Possession In Early Morning Raid on Rooming House

Six Princeton University students were arrested at 5 a.m. Tuesday morning after Borough police, assisted by members of the Special Investigation Unit of the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office, effected a search warrant in a rooming house at 17 Olden Street.

With the exception of one student, all were charged with various counts of possession and distribution of marijuana. The arrests, said Capt. Peter Hanley, were the culmination of a six-week investigation into the distribution of drugs in that area.

All six were being held in Borough jail. "The conditions of their release have not yet been finalized," said Capt. Hanley.

Asked what triggered the investigation, Capt. Hanley replied that police had received information that there was drug activity at the Olden Street address "and we conducted an investigation." He declined to say anything more.

The investigation was conducted by members of the Borough detective bureau, headed by Det. Ralph Terraciano and Det. John Reading.

Arrested were Steven Barton, 22, described as a former University student; Kent Strong, 21, and Lawton Bloom, 21, all of 17 Olden Street; Matthew Sanders, 21, 15 Olden; Joseph Mainelli, 20, Little Hall, Princeton University campus, and William Semins, 20, who, Capt. Hanley said, has a campus address.

Barton was charged with two counts of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute within 1,000 feet of a school zone (St. Paul's School), two counts of complicity

Township Endorses Renewal Of the C-Tec Cable Franchise

Township Committee unanimously approved a resolution Monday night endorsing the renewal of C-Tec Cable System's cable television franchise for at least six years and possibly nine.

The resolution included a long list of terms and conditions negotiated between the joint Cable Television Advisory Committee and C-Tec management. Borough Council is expected to act on a similar resolution at its meeting on Tuesday. If Council approves, ordinances will be drawn up for approval by each municipality granting the franchise and making the advisory committee a permanent municipal entity.

The 10-page resolution starts out by stating Princeton viewers' dissatisfaction with C-Tec's performance since it took over the franchise from Home Link. "C-Tec's past performance does not merit a franchise renewal equal to or greater than the current franchise term," this document states. "However, complete denial of the application does not present a reasonable alternative at this time."

The original franchise was for 10 years, and there were no applicants for the next 10 years other than C-Tec, which sought a minimum of 10 years and would have liked 15 years. Under the agreement hammered out by the Committee and C-Tec management, the governing body may "at its discretion" require C-Tec to initiate the franchise renewal process three years after receiving a certificate of operation from the Office of Cable Television.

The process takes three years, effectively giving C-Tec six years minimum. If the municipality is satisfied with the

Plane Crash Is Fatal To Two 21-Year-Old University Students

Two Princeton University students were killed, apparently instantly, early Tuesday morning when their four-seat Cessna 172 plane crashed head-on into a 50-foot tree that borders a clear area beyond the Princeton Airport runway.

Montgomery Township police identified the pilot as Morgan W. McKinzie, 21, a member of the Class of '93 and a resident of Santa Monica, Calif. His passenger was identified as Michelle Goudie, 21, a junior from Kennett Square, Pa.

According to Lt. Kenneth Chrusz, the plane struck the tree dead center early in the morning while it was 35 feet in the air. "The impact was quite severe," he said. The engine compartment of the small plane broke away and fell to the ground.

The plane was impacted against the tree. According to

Road Work

path for safer biking and walking, is a Township project. Construction on this avenue in and out of Princeton will continue until mid-July, Mr. Kiser told Committee.

Two lanes of traffic are open most of the time, but there will be a period at the end of June when Alexander will be closed to traffic entirely while repaving occurs from the Borough line down to the bridge over Stony Brook. Reconstruction of sections of the road, the installation of storm drains and curbing and the building of the bike path have occurred in phases so that the road could be kept open as much as possible and there would be the least disruption to businesses and residents.

Phase II, the area between the Rusty Scupper restaurant and Faculty Road is expected to be completed, except for final paving, by June 30. Phase III, the area between Faculty Road and the Borough line, and the repaving of the entire street, is scheduled to be finished by July 14.

Meanwhile, Princeton will have experienced the influx of thousands of Princeton University alumni and their families over Reunions Weekend, which begins Thursday, June 11, peaks on Saturday, June 13, and ebbs on Sunday, June 14, when families and friends of Princeton University seniors and graduate students begin arriving. Commencement takes place Tuesday, June 16.

On July 1, some 100 citizens of Pettoranello, Italy, are expected for a week-long visit that is part of the Princeton Township-Pettoranello, Italy, Sister City relationship. Then there is the Governor's Conference, officially scheduled from August 1 through 8, which will bring the governors of all 50 states, their aides and lieutenants to Princeton.

Mr. Kiser has negotiated with Mercer County to defer three other road projects it had in mind until after the Governor's Conference. The County would have liked to be milling and repaving Rosedale Road, Elm Road and lower Harrison Street right now, Mr. Kiser said.

County Agrees to Delays

He managed to get the County to delay milling and repaving Washington Road until phase I of the Alexander Street reconstruction was completed, because that phase, from the Stony Brook bridge to the Rusty Scupper, requires the closing of Alexander to all traffic. If Washington Road had been closed at the same time, the chaos getting in and out of Princeton would have been unimaginable.

Similarly, he asked the County to delay milling and repaving Rosedale Road, Elm Road and lower Harrison Street until after August 8, and the County has agreed. But there are other projects in the works that will also disrupt one's ability to get from here to there, and these also are being scheduled for after August 8.

Calton Homes must extend a sewer line along Princeton Pike; doing so will close that artery to one lane of traffic. Calton also must widen Route 206 at the top of Bruere's Hill to accommodate a left turn lane into the entrance to the development, plus acceleration and deceleration lanes.

These two improvements, plus the road through the development connecting Route 206 and Princeton Pike, must be completed before the first certificate of occupancy can be issued. Calton Homes has promised purchasers that it will deliver the first units in October, Mr. Kiser told Committee.

Another potential area of disturbance will be out The Great Road from Ridgeview Road to Heather Lane. At the request of Heather Lane residents, Public Service has agreed to extend the gas line from Ridgeview, a distance of 1,100 feet. "They will have to coordinate this work with all the rest," Mr. Kiser said.

Meanwhile, the Township has a few other projects either under construction or in the planning stages. Work is under way on Russell Road between Edgerstone and Winant roads to restore the roadway following the installation of a bigger water line. After the Township Public Works Department finishes installing a new storm sewer, Elizabethtown Water Co. will repave the road.

The reconstruction of Stuart Road between Hardy Drive and the Great Road will begin right after Stuart Country Day School holds its commencement, if the bids for the project come in at an acceptable level. The contract will specify that this project be finished by the end of August, before school begins again.

Bids are expected Thursday for the installation of a blinking light at the intersection of Mt. Lucas Road and Ewing Street. If the bids are acceptable, the contract will require the work to be completed within a 60-day period, Mr. Kiser says.

The Township has also received authorization to construct a traffic signal at the intersections of Lovers Lane and Mercer Road and at Witherpoon Street and Valley Road. Bidding documents are being prepared.

Finally, design work on the reconstruction of the upper section of Cherry Hill Road is under way. The central section was completed two years ago this fall, leaving the upper section between Bouvant Drive and Cherry Valley Road undone, as well as the lower section by the Unitarian Church to Route 206.

Under the terms of the grant the Township has received from the New Jersey Department of Transportation to help defray the cost, the work must be under contract by November 1. Mr. Kiser doubts that construction on the upper section of Cherry Hill Road will begin before the spring of 1993.

Judge Admits DWI Charge, Loses License, Is Fined

"Nothing could be more severe than my sense of embarrassment and remorse. I apologize to the court, the state of New Jersey and to the people of New Jersey for my conduct."

With that a repentant Russell W. Annich Jr., who served as Judge for both the Borough and Township courts, awaited sentencing last week before Mercer County Superior Court Judge Samuel Lenox.

Moments before, Judge Annich had pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol, stemming from an accident last Tuesday at 6:23 in the evening when his car ran into the rear of another car at the intersection of Franklin Avenue and North Harrison Streets. No one was injured in the accident.

"I plead guilty. I was guilty and I understand the court will impose the appropriate penalty," Judge Annich told the court. Judge Lenox revoked Mr. Annich's license for six months, fined him a total of $365 and ordered him to attend 12 hours at the Intoxicated Drivers' Resource Center.

Mr. Annich's blood-level alcohol reading was .19 — almost twice the legal limit of .10.

Later, Mr. Annich commented that his problems were the result of bad judgement caused by depression brought on by personal problems. After leaving the courtroom he went directly to a private psychiatric facility in Pennsylvania for treatment of depression. He had separated from his wife,

Russell W. Annich Jr.

Susan, of 14 years on Easter and the couple share custody of their son, Charlie.

Mr. Annich will temporarily step down from serving both courts here. He had served as Borough Judge for the past 11 years; in 1990 he was also named Township Judge, replacing Sydney Souter. At the present, it is uncertain if he will be allowed to return sometime in the future to his seat on the Borough and Township benches for which he was paid a combined $60,000.

Review by Committee

Any further disciplinary action would come from the State Supreme Court following a review by the court's Advisory Committee on Judicial Conduct.

In the meantime, Judge Samuel L. Sachs of East Windsor has been named to handle Township court cases and Judge Ray Barson of West Windsor has been appointed to hear Borough Court.

The 52-year-old Annich, a resident of Longview Drive and a partner in the law firm of Carchman Annich & Sochor since 1967, was on his way to see his son play in a Little League game when the accident occurred. He had cancelled his regular Tuesday night Township court session. En route, his BMW ran into the rear of a 1987 Dodge operated by Chung R. Law, 44, of Princeton.

Mr. Annich was placed under arrest at the scene and later taken to headquarters for processing. He was also charged with careless driving but the two charges were later merged into one DWI charge.

Mr. Annich's lawyer, Janet Altman, told Judge Lenox last week "to put the incident in perspective," that Judge Annich had been depressed over the breakup of his marriage and that had resulted in a secondary problem with alcohol.

Judge Lenox replied that no one in the courtroom found the proceedings more painful than he. "You know the respect in which I hold you," he told Mr. Annich. While society could not condone what he had done, Judge Lenox added that he believed the people in the community could sympathize and understand.

Change in Parking Law Is Tabled by Council

Borough Council last week tabled an ordinance that would have ended two-hour parking restrictions on several streets around the Engineering Quadrangle, including Murray Place and Aiken Avenue. The restrictions were placed in effect during the construction of the University's new parking garage, which is now completed.

A petition signed by about 15 residents asked that the two-hour limit continue, since it has improved parking in the area.

"Most people are satisfied with the parking," said Aiken

END OF THE LINE: Olive McFarquhar's problems began when she allegedly failed to stop at a stop sign on Linden Lane at the intersection of Hamilton late Saturday afternoon. The Subaru driven by the Trenton resident was struck by a car driven by Kellie S. Bellemore, 22, of 11 Park Place, headed west on Hamilton. The impact sent Ms. McFarquhar's vehicle across Hamilton, over the curb and sidewalk, before striking the concrete foundation of a home at 78 Linden. She was taken to Princeton Medical Center by the Princeton Rescue Squad, and treated for a cut on the back of her head, and pains in her lower back and midsection. Ms. Bellemore injured her right shoulder, elbow and wrist. Borough police ticketed Ms. McFarquhar for a stop sign violation and driving without insurance. Both cars had to be towed away, the house foundation was not seriously damaged.

Avenue resident Sandra Jefferson. She suggested that the Borough hold the ordinance until the University construction at the Engineering Quadrangle is completed and the full effect on the surrounding neighborhood is seen.

Councilwoman Jane Terpstra said the restrictions on the south side of Nassau Street have resulted in a serious parking problem on the tree streets, which generally do not have parking restrictions. "There has literally been no parking during the day. The streets are full up by 8 a.m."

Mayor Marvin Reed, who broke a tie by voting to table the ordinance, asked Councilman David Goldfarb to talk to the University about its plans. There was also a suggestion that certain University streets, such as Broadmead, be opened to parking.

In other business, Council concluded the public hearing on the 1992 budget.

Waiting for the State

Mayor Reed said he did not know when Council will be able to vote on the budget because the municipality is waiting to see whether the State will continue its past aid.

"The $1.25 million state money received is a very important supplement to the $3.5 million received in property taxes," said Mr. Reed. He also cited the fact that nearly half the Borough consists of tax-exempt property, and that a lot of people in the town have trouble paying their property tax.

Council approved an ordinance adding an additional lieutenant's position to the Police Department. This does not require additional hiring. It also approved an ordinance that will allow the owners of private land designated for public use to ask for police help in patrolling this land.

Such a request has already come from the owners of Hulfish North, said the Mayor. He added that he expects to receive a similar request from Collins Corporation regarding the kiosk area.

McCaffrey's Aiming for Shopping Center Opening In Mid-Summer, Thrift Drug to Occupy Acme Space

Princeton Shopping Center, which has been struggling for two years to fill space vacated by the Acme Market and Epstein's, will have "anchor" stores — the term used for retail operations which draw people into a shopping center — at both ends by mid-summer.

McCaffrey's, an upscale supermarket, expects to move into the space vacated by Epstein's at the north end of the Shopping Center in the middle of August. Thrift Drug has all its building permits and is beginning to renovate the former Acme Market at the south end for occupancy at the end of July, early August, according to Dana Comfort of George Comfort Sons, owners of the Shopping Center.

Mr. Comfort confirmed this week that Thrift Drug, which had been rumored to be trying to expand and had its eye on the former Acme market, will indeed take over this space. With 16,000 square feet and a complete renovation of the space, Thrift Drug "will be twice as large as it is now and much nicer," Mr. Comfort said.

"I've seen other updated Thrift Drug installations, and they are very nice," he added. "It's all laid out so that you can see all the areas. It will be a great improvement, and will reflect the kind of business we want to have in that space." Mr. Comfort said he was in the process of negotiating with a prospective tenant for Thrift Drug's current space.

A lease is also out for the space occupied by G. Fried Carpet, but until it is signed and returned he prefers not to divulge the name. There is empty space where First Jersey Bank used to be, and Mr. Comfort said that the Shopping Center owners plan to fix up that facade now that Thrift Drug will be near by.

At the other end of the Shopping Center, the piles of dirt in front of the former Epstein's building are from trenches that have been dug in the cement floor for return air ducts for refrigeration units at McCaffrey's market. Dirt that has been piled up around the corner near the loading dock comes from the excavation of an underground oil tank.

Switching to Gas Heat

James McCaffrey, owner/operator of the Yardley Thriftway that is expanding into Princeton with a market he will call McCaffrey's, is switching from oil to gas heat in the new store.

According to Mr. Comfort, the old oil tank, which had been in place since the Shopping Center was built some 25 years ago, was known to have had small leaks. Thus the soil has had to be sampled for hydrocarbons and approved by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and Energy before it could be replaced.

Mr. McCaffrey says the process is almost complete and he expects the re-cementing of the entire floor shortly. Although it was originally announced that McCaffrey's would open in June, Mr. McCaffrey admits that projection was "too optimistic." But he says that difficulty in obtaining fixtures and equipment is the primary cause for the delay, not the digging up of the oil tank.

In today's recessionary climate, manufacturers are reluctant to keep inventory on hand. Orders that used to be filled by shipping requested items from the shelf now take manufacturing time, he says.

McCaffrey's will occupy 33,000 square feet all on one floor. It will be supplied by Fleming Foods of Oaks, Pa., which supplies all Thriftway stores in this area, including Mr. McCaffrey's Yardley store, which he is in the process of remodeling as well. When the remodeling is complete, it too will be known as McCaffrey's, rather than as Yardley Thriftway.

Like the Yardley store, the Princeton McCaffrey's will be what is loosely described as

Hillary Clinton's Visit Off Limits to Press

Complaints about media coverage of the campaign for the presidential nomination have become legion. Is the reporting accurate? Has the media focused on flash at the expense of substance? (Have the candidates done the same thing?)

One way of dealing with the press, it appears, is simply to drop it out of the equation. This has been done with the Hillary Clinton New Jersey visit scheduled for Tuesday, May 19.

Just a few days ago, one reporter heard a pleased "great" when she told a Washington caller from Bill Clinton's campaign that the Princeton reception would be covered by her paper. In a last-minute reversal, however, the press has been barred from Hillary Clinton's appearances, including a Tuesday night $100-a-ticket fund-raising reception at the Hyatt Regency-Princeton, which will also include an "issues forum."

Also planned is an after-reception dinner at the Battle Road home of former Ambassador Anne Martindell, at $300 a person; an afternoon visit to the Rutgers Institute for Women's annual "Celebration of Our Work"; a visit to a senior citizens center; and a speech to parents and students at a New Brunswick public school.

An explanation for keeping the media out of the New Jersey appearances came from Clay Constantinou, co-chair of the Clinton campaign in the State. The decision, he said, had nothing to do with the way Hillary Clinton has been portrayed in the press. The events will be closed so that she can have a chance to spend as much time as possible with her supporters and have sufficient time to interact with them.

Parents Talking to Kids

Planned Parenthood is offering free brochures designed to help mothers and fathers talk to their children about two important topics: sexuality and AIDS.

"How to Talk with Your Child about Sexuality" explains why children need to know about sex, the concerns of children in various age groups, and some common myths about birth control, pregnancy, and sexuality.

"How to Talk with Your Child about AIDS" provides "the ten most important facts about AIDS and AIDS prevention," and assists parents in approaching this subject with their children. Helpful suggestions are offered by age group, starting with pre-schoolers up through the teenage years.

Indicate brochure preference and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to PPGNNJ Center for Family Life Education, 575 Main Street, Hackensack 07601. For other brochures available, call the center at (201) 489-1265.

"upscale" supermarket, with a full service bakery on the premise and chefs on the staff creating take-out dishes. It will also have what Mr. McCaffrey promises to be "an excellent meat department," similar to the one in Yardley on which "we built our reputation," as he puts it. He also emphasizes that the Yardley store is known for its attention to details and quality, and for its "extremely competitive pricing."

Having surveyed the grocery shopping habits of the Princeton area, he expects to give SuperFresb in the Princeton Shopping Center some healthy competition. But his target is also the 10 percent of the Princeton market that surveys tell him travel to the Shop Rite in Kingston and the 15 percent who shop at Foodtown and the Grand Union.

Mr. Comfort calls Mr. McCaffrey "a very solid merchandizer" and "a hands-on owner who will have a first class operation." Clearly Mr. Comfort was also very pleased at the turn-around at the Princeton Shopping Center.

Car Incidents Continue: Cars Stolen or Looted

"Unfortunately, we have something that seems to be escalating. It's more than just one or two people," commented Lt. Anthony Gaylord this week, as he reported more incidents of car break-ins and the actual theft of two cars and a motorcycle. Most of the incidents took place during the weekend.

A 1989 Oldsmobile valued at approximately $15,000 was stolen overnight from Guyot Avenue where the owner lives. Lt. Gaylord reported that the car had been left unlocked by the owner, who discovered the car missing at 7:39 Saturday morning. Contents from the glove compartment were found in the area.

Twenty minutes past midnight Sunday morning, police here were notified the car had been recovered in Trenton and three juveniles from the surrounding area arrested.

During the same time frame, a 1989 GMC van valued at $11,000 was stolen from Walnut Lane. It was parked across the street from where the owner lives. Inside the car were items valued at $640, including a radar detector, towing hitch, boat cover and tools. A passenger side window was smashed to enter the car.

It was recovered Saturday afternoon in Lawrence Township on New York Avenue near the Delaware and Raritan Canal. The car's ignition switch had been broken out and some items were missing from the interior.

Over the same night, a 1990 Kawasaki Ninja EX250 motorcycle, valued at $3,000, was stolen from the Magie Apartments lot off Faculty Road. The black, silver and red-colored cycle had a cover over it and its handlebars were locked, but that did not prevent a thief from somehow carting it away.

The victim is a Magie Apartment resident.

Friday afternoon, while a Long Valley resident was attending the Hun-Pingry lacrosse game, she parked her 1990 Jeep Cherokee station wagon in the athletic area near the school, leaving her purse under the front passenger seat.

During the game, someone smashed the car's passenger window and removed her $50 purse containing a wallet and $40. Other items of value were not disturbed. The replacement cost of the window was placed at approximately $250.

Two cars parked near the Bird Sanctuary road off West Drive were entered on Sunday. Both cars were forcibly entered, one by smashing a rear window, the other a driver's side window.

A Township resident lost $180 when her purse was stolen; a West Trenton resident lost $50 and her $45 purse. Both purses also contained credit cards, police said.

Between 2:15 and 3:15 Monday afternoon, someone smashed a window to enter the car of a Trenton resident which was parked in a professional lot at 66 Mount Lucas Road. Taken from underneath the car's seat was the victim's purse containing approximately $200.

Earlier, on Thursday evening, a resident of Griggs Farm was walking toward his parked Chevy Monza when he noticed the car's interior light was on and two youths, about 15 or 16, were standing outside the door. Another youth with short, reddish hair was leaning inside the car.

When the owner yelled, the three suspects fled. He chased after them but lost them in the Hillside Avenue area. The suspects dropped the owner's $20 jacket which a neighbor recovered.

Police report there was no forcible entry into the car.

Two in the Borough

Borough police reported two car incidents.

A $750 AM/FM stereo was stolen from the dash of a 1988 VW while it was parked overnight in the Park Place yard. Police report the car was not locked. The owner is a resident of Park Place.

In a second incident in the Park Place yard, a resident of Plainsboro told police that the passenger window of her 1989 VW had been smashed but nothing was missing. Police said the car was not entered.

$300 VCR Is Stolen From High School Room

A $300 Panasonic VCR was stolen last weekend from Room 132 at Princeton High School. Police said it is not known if the first-floor room was locked during the entire weekend or not.

Early last Wednesday morning, a member of the Cottage Club, 51 Prospect Avenue, saw a suspicious person remove a brass lamp with a white shade from a first-floor table and walk out with it.

He described the suspect as a white male in his early 20s, 5-10, with light-colored hair, wearing a red shirt. The lamp is valued at $150.

An employee at Prospect House on the University campus lost approximately $525 when she left her purse last week in an employees' locker room between 7 Saturday evening and 1 the next morning and someone stole it. The victim is a Borough resident.

A Township resident reported the theft of his $50 wristwatch from a YMCA locker. Police said the victim had left the locker unlocked for five minutes and when he returned the watch was gone.

A $750, 21-speed Trek bicycle was stolen last week from outside Gauss Hall on the University campus where the student victim had left it unlocked.

Lottery Flim Flam Fails; Hispanic Couple Suspects

What police called an attempted flim flam in the Borough this month failed when the intended victim refused to take the bait.

According to Capt. Peter Hanley, a 23-year-old Cranbury resident was walking near the corner of Nassau and Moore Streets when he was approached by an Hispanic couple. They told her they had a winning lottery ticket but were afraid to cash it for fear of attracting the attention of immigration authorities. They attempted to exchange the ticket for money but it is not clear, said Capt. Hanley, how much they asked for. The intended victim refused and walked away.

Trenton Youths Charged; Had Bikes in Possession

Two 16-year-old Trenton juveniles were arrested early Thursday morning by police who charged them with possession of stolen bicycles.

The youths were seen with two bikes in their possession shortly before 1 a.m. near the corner of Washington Road and Nassau Street by University proctors. When they realized they were being observed, they fled.

The bikes, a 10-speed women's mountain bike, and a 10-speed men's model, were recovered in the St. Paul's cemetery. The two suspects were found a short time later hiding in the Park Place parking lot, arrested and taken to headquarters.

They were later released to their parents. "It's in the hands of juvenile authorities now," said Capt. Peter Hanley.

Committees Are Named By Board of Education

School Board President Gerald Groves will head the Negotiations Committee of the School Board for the 1992-93 school year. He will coordinate contract and salary negotiations, scheduled to begin in early 1993, with unions representing administrators, teachers, and aides and secretaries.

Corinne Kyle will head the team that will negotiate with the teachers' union, the Princeton Regional Education Association. John Clearwater and David Robbins, both of whom were elected to the Board this year, will serve with her.

Mrs. Kyle will also lead the team that will negotiate with the Princeton Regional Administrators Association. Ann Baynes Coiro and Richard Godfrey will serve with her.

Patty Soffronoff will head the team charged with working out a new contract with the Princeton Regional Educational Support Staff Association, which represents secretaries and aides. She will be joined by Mrs. Bronzan and Mr. Robbins.

Mr. Godfrey will head the Finance Committee; Mrs. Kyle the Personnel, Policy and Legislation Committee; and Ms. Baynes-Coiro will coordinate the Program Committee.

Joint Red Cross Chapter Sets First Annual Meeting

The American Red Cross is poised to begin a new era on July 1, when the consolidation of the Princeton Area and Trenton Area chapters becomes official. The new organization will be identified as the New Jersey Capital Area Chapter and will serve all of Mercer County and adjacent communities in Middlesex and Somerset counties.

In anticipation of a shared future, the two chapters will host the first annual meeting of the New Jersey Capital Area Chapter on Tuesday, June 9 at 5:45 p.m. at the Princeton Hyatt Regency. The meeting will provide a forum to assess the past year of community service and discuss plans for continuing to help area residents lead more healthy, productive lives.

Special recognition will be given to area individuals and businesses who have made outstanding community service contributions. The following companies will be recognized for extraordinary support of the Red Cross and the community: David Sarnoff Research Center; Healthcare Communications, Inc.; Bristol-Myers Squibb Company; Continental Insurance; Comprehensive Business Services; and American Cyanamid, Agricultural Research Division.

Programs offered by the New Jersey Capital Area Chapter include Meals on Wheels; special transportation services for elderly and handicapped individuals; disaster relief; service to military families; blood services; and corporate and community health services ranging from courses in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) to women's self-defense.

Area Red Cross services also include an extensive youth program that serves more than 25,000 students and is the largest in the state.

The Chapter also offers an extensive water safety and swim program, including a program for the handicapped.

The staff, board of directors, and volunteers from both chapters have been working to finalize plans for structuring the New Jersey Capital Area Chapter to maximize the benefits of shared resources and expertise.

The public is welcome to attend the annual meeting. The cost is $20 per person, which includes a reception following the meeting. Call 924-2404 for additional information.

New President to Head United Way Trustees

Glenn Brewer, executive director, Worldwide Analytical Systems, for Bristol-Myers Squibb Company and a United Way volunteer for nine years, has been elected president of the board of trustees for United Way-Princeton Area Communities.

Dr. Brewer began his volunteer service with United Way as an agency representative for the Delaware-Raritan Girl Scout Council on the board of trustees. For the past two years, he has served as vice president of funds distribution, a process he has been involved with for nine years.

In other board action, Pennington resident and former board president Lawrence Borkowski was elected to serve as regional vice president for the Hopewell/Montgomery area.

Conference for Retirees Planned on Thursday

MVS Emissions Testing To Offer Second Chance

Motor Vehicle Services will begin phasing in a program of giving motorists who fail their initial emissions test at inspection stations an immediate "second chance" at passing.

"Vehicles that fail the initial test will be given a second chance right on the spot thanks to the positive results of an extensive pilot testing program that MVS completed at several inspection stations throughout the state during the past

Pa. Man Charged in Bank Robbery

A house painter from Chester County, Pa., Michael Lyons, 36, has been charged by federal authorities with the February holdup of the New Jersey National Bank branch office on Nassau Street.

In papers filed last week in the U.S. Attorney's Office in Philadelphia, federal investigators claim that Lyons was responsible for a spree of 16 bank robberies that began last December and ended March 27 when he was arrested and charged with robbing the Ambassador Bank in Allentown, Pa. of $3,240. In addition to the bank here, Lyons allegedly robbed two banks in New Brunswick, another in Gloucester County and the Chemical Bank in Phillipsburg the day he was arrested. He is also charged with robbing two banks in Delaware.

He allegedly escaped with $568 from the Nassau Street bank, one of the smallest losses on the list that, authorities say, totalled $36,773.

If convicted of the heists, Lyons faces a fine of $1.25 million and up to 100 years in prison.

Capt. Peter Hanley of the Borough police commented that his department has been in touch with the federal authorities and that it is in agreement with the findings of their investigation.

several months," MVS Director Skip Lee said.

Motor Vehicle Services found that many vehicles fail their emissions tests merely because catalytic converters and oxygen sensors cool down while waiting in the inspection line, thus giving a false reading and resulting in a needless rejection, a second trip back to an inspection station, and possible repair costs that are entirely unnecessary.

According to Mr. Lee, a vehicle's exhaust temperature should be a least 300 degrees when it is tested for emissions; however, after five minutes in the inspection line, the temperature drops to 270 degrees; and after 15 minutes, down to 195 degrees. The lower temperatures substantially throw off the emissions test results.

"Our pilot test program indicated that by depressing the accelerator pedal in neutral for about one minute, the vehicle engine would have sufficient time to heat up. We have elected to give failing vehicles a 60-second preconditioning and are confident that this should result in up to 40 percent fewer vehicles failing for emissions," Mr. Lee said.

Mr. Lee emphasized that the new program will take three weeks to phase in completely throughout the 35 state inspection stations and the private inspection centers.

'Edge City' Author to Talk At Planning Conference

First, people lived and worked in the cities. Then they moved to the suburbs and commuted to work in the cities. These days, the majority of Americans — central Jerseyans among them — reside and work outside the city.

Joel Garreau, author of the controversial new book, Edge City: Life on the New Frontier, will discuss this phenomenon and its impact on our future as the guest speaker at the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Council Planning Institute, to be held on Wednesday, June 3, at David Sarnoff Research Center in West Windsor.

In Edge City, published by Doubleday in 1991, Mr. Garreau explores the way America is growing — along the borders of its older cities. He identifies 125 of these areas across the country — including the Route 1 corridor and Bridgewater Commons — and discusses how they are likely to affect our future economy, politics and culture.

In examining the opportunities and the special problems presented by life in edge cities, he notes, "No matter what people think of edge cities in their current mold, they have become the new standard version of the American urban place and we can make them better."

Said MSM president Dianne Brake, "We have selected Mr. Garreau as our guest speaker because his investigation of 'edge cities' sheds light on our own region. He examines the demographics and business patterns that will be part of our lives well into the next century."

Mr. Garreau, a Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter with The Washington Post, has traveled the country extensively, documenting the rise of edge cities. He is the author of a previous best selling book, The Nine Nations of North America, and has presented his findings as an international lecturer and in numerous radio and television appearances.

The MSM Planning Institute is intended to convene the region's leaders: elected officials, planning and zoning board members, land use professionals, developers, environmental commissioners, engineers, and conservationists. The day-long program will include a panel discussion with state leaders on new government policies affecting local planning and a hands-on workshop to explore the practical issues of developing "communities of place," a key concept in the New Jersey State Development and Redevelopment Plan.

The conference will be held from 9 to 4:40, with a wine and cheese reception to follow the formal program. Seating is limited and registration is required. For further information, call MSM, 452-1717.

Day Camp Registration Under Way at Rec. Dept.

The Princeton Recreation Department is accepting registration for the 1992 Summer Day Camp program. This program is held at Community Park Monday through Friday, from 9 to 3, June 29 to August 7. The program is open to all Township and Borough youths entering grades one through six this September.

The registration fee for the six-week program is $190 for the first child and $135 for each additional child. For those who need extended care for their children, a pre-camp care program is available from 7:45 to 9 a.m. at $35 per child and after-camp care is available between the hours of 3 and 5:30 at $65 per child.

Those who desire formal swimming or diving instruction may register for the special day camp instructional programs which are incorporated into the day camp schedule. Lessons will take place on Tuesdays and Thursdays throughout the six-week program. Each child may register for swimming or diving, but not both. The fee is $20 per child.

As an addition to the day camp, campers will also have the opportunity to participate in the day camp trip program. Each trip is to local attractions and is well supervised. There is an additional fee for the trips.

Registration forms are available at the Recreation Office, 380 Witherspoon Street, and are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. The deadline to register is June 15 or when the camp limit of 225 has been met. Please register early. For additional information, call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

The Recreation Department is accepting applications for an arts and crafts instructor for the Summer Day Camp that begins June 29. The individual must have previous experience teaching arts and crafts activities with children and must be available Monday through Friday, from 9 to 3, during the entire six week camp.

For more information, please call the Recreation Department at 921-9480.

Tour of Herb Garden Scheduled by YWCA

The formal Williamsburg herb garden at Cyrus Hyde's Well-Sweep herb farm in Port Murray is one of the foremost herb gardens in the country. It is an Elizabethan-style knot herb garden consisting of over 500 types of herbs. The Princeton YWCA is organizing a tour of Well-Sweep led by Marjorie Meriam, member of the Delaware Valley Unit of Herb Society of America, on Tuesday, June 2, from 9 to 4.

In addition to being an inspiring garden design, the 20-year-old garden has been set up to be an educational display that shows how different types of herbs grow. If time permits the group will stop at Rockingham to see an unusual dried flower shop.

Registration is limited and pre-registration is required by May 25. The group will meet at the Pennington Market to join car pools at 9 a.m. Indicate if you can drive or need a ride when you register. The fee is $25 for YWCA members, $28 for nonmembers, and lunch is included.

For more information call the Adult Department of the YWCA at 497-2103.

Volunteers Needed

The American Red Cross Princeton Area and Trenton Area chapters have an imperative need for additional volunteers to handle an expanded bloodmobile schedule for the month of June.

The hours are flexible and convenient, and locations can be selected from among several areas throughout Mercer County. Volunteers are asked to donate three hours of their time.

The American Red Cross emphasizes the critical importance of blood drives in assuring a stable, safe blood supply for our community. Call Judy Gorman at 924-2404 to find out more about helping at an area bloodmobile drive.

Open Poetry Reading With University Fellow

Award-winning poet Red Hawk, who has served for the past year as the Hodder Fellow at Princeton University, will read from his most recent book, The Sioux Dog Dance, and extend the microphone to other poets in his last local reading.

The open-air forum is scheduled for Saturday at 3 at the Princeton Shopping Center. Visitors are encouraged to bring blankets or folding chairs, and their own poetry. In the event of rain, the reading will be moved indoors. Caffe Italia, an Italian-style coffee shop, will contribute a free cup of cappuccino to anyone who reads a poem. Parents may bring children over the age of 12.

Red Hawk's poems have appeared in The Atlantic, The New York Quarterly, Poetry, and 60 other publications; his first book of poems, Journey of the Medicine Man, was published by August House in 1983. Except for his residency as the Hodder Fellow at Princeton University, he has lived for some time in Little Rock, Ark.

New Tool for Surgeons At Medical Center Here

The Princeton Medical Center has purchased the Midas Rex Bone Scalpel Instrumentation, a super-speed bone scalpel system that enables surgeons to carve and shape bone with ease and freedom, handling bone with essentially the same facility they handle soft tissue with a scalpel. The Midas Rex system is said to reduce trauma to bone and surrounding tissue, shortening both operating and recovery time.

The main advantage of this drill is its super-speed and ease of operation. "The time required for some procedures can be cut by as much as half, resulting in lower costs and reduced recovery time for patients," said James J. Chandler, chairman of the Department of Surgery. "And reduced time under anesthesia lessens overall operative complications."

Middle East Authority To Head Study Center

John Waterbury, William Stewart Tod Professor of Politics and International Affairs at Princeton University, has been selected as director of the University's Center of International Studies. Prof. Waterbury will succeed Henry S. Bienen, who will become dean of the Woodrow Wilson School on July 1.

Prof. Waterbury, Princeton '61, is an authority on the Middle East, and his fieldwork has taken him to most countries in the region.

Prof. Waterbury's current research deals mainly with issues of democratization and use of the international rivers in the region. In conjunction with the American University in Cairo, he is designing a project to investigate the perceptions of Egyptians of significant changes in their environmental surroundings.

The Center of International Studies was established at Princeton in 1951. CIS is noted for its work in international relations and economic issues in the developing world. As a major research arm of the Woodrow Wilson School, it has as its primary purpose the support of scholarship relating to issues of world peace and the improvement of economic cooperation among nations.

Boys' Lacrosse Camp This Summer at PDS

A chance for boys ages 8 through 14 to perfect their lacrosse skills is being offered by the Princeton Day School Summer Program.

One More Time: Repairs to Witherspoon Street

Irv Urken was stunned when he drove toward his hardware store early Tuesday morning and saw part of Witherspoon Street torn up again. He said he was in California when the project was announced at last week's Borough merchants' meeting, and knew nothing about it until his drive to work.

The road work on Witherspoon and Palmer Square, scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, is being done to clear up some defects in the paving, said Borough Engineer Carl Peters. He noted that, when the reconstruction job ended in November, the Public Works Department had said that this final work would have to be done in the spring.

Some of the problems were caused by excavation done by Elizabethtown Water Company. To reduce inconvenience, all work is being done by the Borough's contractor, Richard E. Pierson. The water company's share will be billed to Elizabethtown; some 60 percent of the project. The remaining 40 percent should fall within the construction contract.

Witherspoon Street will be closed early Wednesday morning, and Palmer Square will be closed until about 2 or 3 p.m. Striping is scheduled for both streets on Thursday. Mr. Peters hopes this will be completed by noon.

The Borough engineer said the work was scheduled for mid-week because deliveries take place on Mondays, and no one wanted it done on weekends. He acknowledged that the stores could have been better notified. "It's pretty hard to notify everybody unless you go door to door. It has been kind of hectic. I can't say everything was perfectly done on notification."

Just to eliminate further surprises, Mr. Peters noted that a few areas of sidewalk on Witherspoon and Palmer Square will need to be repaved within the next two weeks.

ity," said Scott Spence, PDS boys' varsity lacrosse coach, who will run the summer camp.

"The improvement of basic skills and the development of stickwork will be stressed through drills that concentrate on catching, passing, cradling, dodging, face-offs, ground balls and defensive play," Mr. Spence said.

Goal-tending instruction will be available for those who are interested. One- and two-week sessions are available beginning July 6.

The cost is $150 per week. Camp t-shirts will be given to each camper.

For further information, call Mark Adams, director of the PDS Summer Program, 924-6700.

Trekkers to Raise Funds For Lung Association

On Saturday a team of Rutgers University bicycle trekkers will join 25 participants in the U.S. Bike Trek '92, a 47-day, 3,470-mile trek from Seattle to Atlantic City to benefit the American Lung Association of Mid-New Jersey.

Funds are raised through individual pledges and this year each of the 25 participants must raise $3,000 towards the event. Anyone wishing to contribute can make checks payable to US Bike Trek '92-ALA and mail to the American Lung Association of Mid-N.J., 29 Enmons Drive, PO Box 2006, Princeton 08543.

Annual Diaper Derby A Feature of June Fete

The annual Princeton Medical Center June Fete will be the site of the second annual diaper derby. This event is one of a series that will promote the maternal-child health division of the Medical Center.

The starter's rattle will shake at 9:30 a.m. to begin the Five-Meter Crawl for infants 7 to 12 months of age. The second event, the Five-Meter Walk/Run for babies 1 to 2 years of age, will begin at 11:30. The third event will be the "Fete Petit Prix" which will begin at 12:30 p.m. for toddlers 2 to 4 years of age.

Registration forms will be available in the Medical Center lobby and must be received by June 1. For more information, call Dawn Rittley, 497-4300, extension 6623.

911 Study Committee Formed by County

Mercer County Executive Robert D. Prunetti has named an 11-member committee to study the feasibility of implementing a county-wide 911 emergency dispatch system. Representatives from the fire, police and rescue squad communities, as well as State government, will comprise the new committee.

"I am confident that this committee will provide a comprehensive and objective review of the 911 concept and the means to implement such a program. More importantly, however, the study committee will provide for the strong and active involvement of the municipalities themselves," said Mr. Prunetti.

Area members include, S. Robert Miller, Pennington; Mike Yay, Princeton Borough; Cynthia Lipton, West Windsor; John Prettyman, Lawrence; Bob Ferrarin, Hopewell; and Joseph Meyer III, Princeton.

TRENTON ROUNDUP

Sales Tax Cut Vetoed

Gov. Jim Florio on Monday conditionally vetoed a bill that would reduce the State sales tax by one cent. By vetoing the Republican bill, the Governor has set the stage for promised overrides by the Senate and Assembly, both controlled by Republicans.

The State would lose $608 million in revenues if the sales tax were cut from seven to six percent. New Jersey currently faces a projected $310 million deficit for the coming fiscal year.

In his veto message, the Governor said that he would approve the one percent cut in the sales tax if the Republicans approve a balanced budget that does not damage a number of State programs. He included in these programs the $685 million Homestead rebate; $4.5 billion in school aid; close to $1 billion in municipal aid; and $266 million in economic assistance for children.

Insurance Rise Upheld

Rejecting the State's efforts to block the increase, the New Jersey Supreme Court has ordered the State to raise auto insurance rates 12.6 percent for hundreds of thousands of the nearly one million drivers in New Jersey's Market Transition Facility (the high risk pool).

The rate increase will average about $138 on an average $1,100 insurance bill. Effective last week, it will affect all policies renewed in the high-risk pool.

Insurance Department Crackdown

The State Insurance Department has announced it has put the insurance industry on notice that it will not tolerate disregard for the law and the rights of New Jersey drivers.

Under the Fair Automobile Insurance Reform Law, most consumers have the right to shop around for the best price, and purchase an automobile insurance policy from the company of their choice.

Complaints by consumers and published reports, however, indicate some insurance companies are breaking the law and giving out inventive excuses for why a company will not write them a policy.

Anyone with questions about the law or their rights can call the Department's toll-free number, 1-800-446-SHOP, or the Division of Enforcement and Consumer Protection, 292-5316.

Improving Child Protection Efforts

Gov. Jim Florio has signed legislation toughening laws and increasing penalties for persons who exploit and abuse children.

The bills establish stricter penalties against persons who sexually exploit children for profit; increase penalties for lewdness committed in the presence of a child under 13 or a mentally disabled person; and increase penalties for endangering the welfare of a child.

Tropical Rain Forests Topic of PU Professor

Stephen Hubbell, professor of ecology and evolutionary biology at Princeton University, will speak on "Tropical Rainforests and Why it Matters to Save Them," Sunday, May 31, at 4. Proceeds from this event will benefit the environmental efforts of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association.

Dr. Hubbell has been called "the man who saves trees." Much of his off-campus time is spent in Panama and Malaysia, where he is researching ecology of tropical rainforests. He will have just returned from chairing a meeting of environmentalists who are trying to establish a National Institute of the Environment.

Dr. Hubbell believes we have no more than 40 years in which to resolve current problems before a solution becomes too costly and complex to implement. Many migratory birds depend on tropical forests "being there" each winter as they arrive after long flights from the United States.

The talk will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hegener in Princeton. Refreshments will be served. The cost is $25 per person. To reserve a seat call 737-3735.

OF TREES AND BIRDS: When Stephen Hubbell, left and Thomas Southerland get together, the conversation turns to rainforests — Prof. Hubbell's specialty — and the song birds — Mr. Southerland's avocation — who rely on them in winter migration. Dr. Hubbell will give a talk on why we need rainforests as a fundraiser for Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association.

Scientific Changes Viewed at Littlebrook

"Boom! And Other Scientific Changes" will conclude Littlebrook School's science celebration on Friday at 7:30 p.m. Open to the public, this adventure in chemistry is one of the highlights of the week-long event featuring "Changes" as its theme.

Begun Monday with a series of hands-on science experiments, the celebration includes student explorations led by teachers, parents, and members of the community on topics which span every curriculum subject area.

Examples include changes in language, attitudes, changing trash into art, songs about change, changing math tools, the seasons, tectonic plates and earthquakes, and oil spills.

McCarter Theatre staff will interact with children on the subject of emotions. A daily science book fair will be open 8 to 8:30 a.m., 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and 2:30 to 3:10 p.m.

Household Cleanup Day Nets 61 Tons of Material

More than 800 Mercer County residents participated in the Mercer County Improvement Authority's seventh Household Chemical Waste Cleanup Day in early May. Sixty-one tons of material were collected for recycling or proper disposal. It was the fourth, and most successful, of the Spring cleanup days. The next cleanup day will be October 31.

Radiac Research, Inc., the Authority's chemical waste vendor, collected 327 55-gallon drums of material, including 162 drums of oil-based paint and 87 drums of liquid pesticides. One thousand gallons of used motor oil were brought in, which was particularly gratifying to the MCLA chairman Peter Yull, because the Authority has designated May as Used Motor Oil Month in Mercer County, a month dedicated to educating the public of the environmental dangers of improper disposal of used oil.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships, and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 40 cents.

Two Area Students Chosen for Youth Award

Daniel Epstein of the Hightstown High School and Abhijit Ghosh of The Hun School have been selected as individual recipients of the 1992 Robert E. Clancy Youth Community Service Award. The award, which was conceived by the Council of Community Services in Princeton, is now presented annually by United Way-Princeton Area Communities.

Mr. Epstein is a volunteer for Greenwood House in Trenton and has organized the "Well Wishers," a group of students who enrich the lives of the elderly residents by providing companionship. They have provided the residents with audio and video tapes, bingo prizes and cards for all holidays, in addition to sharing their time and talents with talent shows and other entertainment.

Mr. Ghosh is a volunteer at the Merwick Unit at Princeton Medical Center. He transports and visits with patients, as well as carrying out other duties. Mr. Ghosh had to ride his bike 11 miles each way every day for six weeks during the summer to perform his volunteer duties. He has also served as an unofficial ambassador of volunteering for The Hun School, speaking at assemblies, writing for the school newspaper, and serving on the Community Service Committee.

Nature Events Planned In May and June Here

The Nature Company, Hulfish Street, has scheduled three upcoming nature events. On Saturday, "Fossil Fun," an event for children, will be held.

A walk through the Institute Woods will take place from 9 to 11 a.m. on June 6. Participants will meet at the Battlefield Park parking lot on Mercer Street.

"Owls of New Jersey" will be held Friday, June 19, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

After Stellar Careers at Princeton High School, Choral Music Directors Trego and Parrella Retiring

Giving respect, and receiving it in return. Taking high school students with sufficient seriousness to build a superb choral music program around their young, largely untrained voices. Building a relationship between teacher and student based on caring and a firm belief that the young person will succeed.

And making the students laugh.

This is a little of what has gone into the careers of William Trego, director of choral music at Princeton High School, and Nancianne Parrella, associate director. Both are retiring in June, Mr. Trego after 27 years and Ms. Parrella after 33.

Nancianne Parrella was at the middle school when a newly hired Bill Trego asked for someone to assist him. "Sylvan Friedman, who was then director of the high school orchestra, suggested that I hear Nancianne," recalled Mr. Trego. "The first year she came up, she spent a short time, the second year, it was more, and by the third, she was here full time."

Bill Trego and Nancianne Parrella share the tiny office above the auditorium, where the sound of students practicing their music in adjoining rooms drifts in intermittently during the day. Together, they are responsible for a choral program that has won awards and gained acclaim for more than two decades.

"Best in Class"

The American Choral Directors Association (ACDA) designated the Princeton High School Choir "Best in Class" in 1981, featuring the group at its national convention in New Orleans. Again in 1988 the Choir was chosen by the ACDA to open its convention in Philadelphia.

Farewell Party Planned

Parents whose children were in the Princeton High School choral program, as well as friends of the program, are planning a farewell party for Bill Trego and Nancianne Parrella on Saturday, June 13, at 7:30 p.m.

The event is open to everyone. Cost is $5 per person.

For location, and other information, call Kathie Miller at 924-6579.

In the summer of 1984, the Choir, together with the Princeton High School Orchestra, traveled to Vienna for the International Youth and Music Festival. The Choir had appeared earlier at the Festival of Three Cities, in Vienna, Prague, and Budapest. It was named one of the ten best American choirs to sing in the Festival.

Gian Carlo Menotti selected the Choir to premiere his newest opera, The Egg, for the 1978 Spoleto Festival USA.

The third time, however, the students didn't open their mouths. "And there I was, mooing away," said Mr. Sakala.

"A Mother and Father"

Mr. Trego and Ms. Parrella see themselves as "a mother and father in school." To some youngsters, the stability and concern the two teachers have shown has been more durable than their experiences at home. "We really love the kids," said Mr. Trego. "We share their lives, not only through

"...with every note I sing or play, with every lyric I write, or piece I compose, with every idea or device or sound I dream of, I learn time and again that these are gifts. You made me see that; moreover, you taught me to use and respect these gifts."

In February, parents and students learned that Mr. Trego and Ms. Parrella had submitted their resignation. Combined with the sadness was a desire that the two who replace them must be of the highest quality. This desire is shared by the two choral directors.

"There needs to be a relationship that works well," said Mr. Trego. "Both need to be there full time, and have the same authority."

Ms. Parrella added that they were successful because the students knew they were equal. "Kids know that I play piano; he doesn't. He sings. I don't. We are equal in grading. They never pit one against the other."

He also is the one who tells the jokes — usually one every day. Even the corny ones get a laugh after the requisite moans.

Even rank doesn't guarantee privilege. John Sakala, who was principal of the high school for 11 years, remembers the time he fell for the "moo" joke.

Entering the classroom with an important visitor from England, he was asked by Mr. Trego to participate in a song. There was one part where everyone sang "moo," and would the principal join in?

He did, and mooed along with the students at two intervals.

music, but through personal contact."

He added that music develops in people a necessity to do their best, and that this in turn teaches them self-discipline, which they can carry on in all aspects of their lives.

The contribution of William Trego and Nancianne Parrella is not forgotten by their students. John Popper, the lead singer and player in Blues Traveler, a popular band, recently dropped a letter into their school mailbox.

In it, the 1987 graduate wrote, "As I get older, with every note I sing or play, with every lyric I write, or piece I compose, with every idea or device, or sound I dream of, I learn time and again that these are gifts. You made me see that; moreover, you taught me to use and respect these gifts."

He also left presents for Mr. Trego and "P" (as Ms. Parrella is called by students), including a boomerang for each "to remind you that what you throw will indeed come back."

Reflecting on the Choir's recent trip to France and Italy, Mr. Trego spoke with pride of the young peoples' behavior. "Because they had a purpose of singing," he said. "They handled themselves with that same discipline not only on stage but in all aspects of the trip."

A similar recent instance in which the Women's Chorus behaved admirably at a music festival was recalled by Ms. Parrella. "Our kids are great. They will come through," she said. "They have been challenged to know what is expected of them, and to achieve the excellent results expected of them."

Mr. Trego added, "The relationship is so great, they don't want to let us down. They never have."

University Glee Club

When he leaves the high school, Mr. Trego will become director of choral activities at Princeton University, responsible for the Glee Club. He has been director of the University's Freshman Singers for the past 25 years.

Ms. Parrella will work part-time at Westminster Choir College, accompanying the Symphonic Choir and the Westminster Choir, and will teach in the education department.

She is also music director of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, at Central Park West and 65th Street in New York City, and organist and assistant director of the Bethlehem Bach Choir, in Bethlehem, Pa.

As a baritone soloist, Mr. Trego's performances have included Handel's Messiah in New York City, and the Durufle Requiem under the composer's direction. He sang under Robert Shaw's direction with the Westminster Choir in performances of Bach's St. John's Passion, Verdi's Requiem, and Stravinsky's Symphony of Psalms.

Ms. Parrella has continued her long association with Robert Shaw as organist and pianist for two tours in France with the Robert Shaw Institute and Festival Singers.

Both are hoping that the quality of the choral program they built will continue after they leave. And both will miss their team teaching.

Like a Divorce

"I'll miss him," said Ms. Parrella. "He's my best friend, next to my husband (Joachim Parrella, choral instructor and music department chair at John Witherspoon Middle School.)" "We've been teaching together five times a week for 27 years," she added. "It's like getting a divorce."

Ms. Parrella pointed to the depth of Princeton Regional's music program, saying they were able to give it peaks because it has this depth.

"I'm not sure we ever reached the peak," added Mr. Trego. "You must keep striving for it. I feel we've maintained a very high level."

"Individually and together, they were a really stellar pair," said John Sakala. "It was not just the music, but the way they treat the kids. There was never a kid who participated in that program who didn't really feel wanted by them."

PHS Choir Gives Town A Standing Ovation

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The members of the Princeton High School Choir were fortunate enough to be invited to sing in a variety of historical and cultural places in Europe this spring. This invitation would have remained just that without the spirited and generous members of the Princeton Community. It was your offers of a place in the Saint Patrick's Day Parade, corporate contributions, and an opportunity to rake all the leaves in Princeton that made this invitation a reality.

Although your financial support had to be our first priority, the full audience at our April 3rd concert was doubtlessly the most rewarding support.

There is simply no way to describe the cultural and musical pleasures that our 67 members shared in Europe; it was certainly an experience to last a lifetime. Singing in the Duomo in Florence, Italy is an experience not to be underestimated. Like our concert in Colmar, Pettoranello, and Rome, we were reminded of the beauty history surrounding us with each reverberation of our voices.

The awesome views and sites in Italy and France inspired not only endless magnificent historical impressions, but also numerous unexpected friendships and fond memories. The legacy of our European tour resurfaces through the exchange of photos, by a thoughtful glance at a fellow choir member, or by the reassuring sight of the three flags on our tour tee-shirts.

The generosity and warmth we received from our host families in Princeton's sister city of Colmar, France, proved wonderful but not surprising, considering their hospitality towards the choir members visiting France in 1989.

Our reception, however, in Pettoranello, Italy was overwhelming. Upon arrival at this magnificent, picturesque, mountainside village, we were greeted by its citizens waiting with a tuned piano, an incredible church, beautiful custom-made tee shirts, and a full house. As if that weren't enough, we were provided with

Linden Lane & Hamilton, Dangerous Intersection

To the Editor of Town Topics: Following is a letter I have written to Borough Mayor Marvin Reed and members of Borough Council:

We need to reconsider the problem intersection of Linden Lane and Hamilton Avenue. I know that it was looked at recently and no recommendation was made to change it, but I think that before a fatality occurs we need to do something to make it safer.

For the one year I have lived at that corner I have seen four accidents and heard of one other. The most recent accident propelled two vehicles up on the sidewalk and lawn where as many as 17 children wait for a school bus. I think moving the school bus stop is possibly part of the solution, but not entirely. Somehow, the conflux of the two streets is extremely dangerous. Not only is there poor visibility but most cars do not stay within the 25 mph speed limit.

The police department is

Shoplifting Not Matter of Race or Age

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This letter is in response to your May 13th article concerning the meeting between black students and Borough merchants for Princeton. I was unable to attend the meeting to respond to the allegation made against my store, but I would like to take this opportunity to set the record straight.

In the last three years, shoplifting has become an epidemic in our stores. It has gone up 25 percent since 1989. With this being the case, we are much more alert to any suspicious activity going on around us. It is not a matter of race or age. If someone is trying to conceal something, we will keep an eye on them no matter what their color is. As a matter of fact, most of the shoplifters caught in my store are white.

We have been in this location for five years and have become a very big supporter of the community. We also try to hire most of our employees from the community. For no reason are we biased or trying to alienate anyone. If there is a problem, feel free to contact us to resolve the situation. I hope that this situation will be straightened out so that we all can live and work together as a community of one — the human race.

looking again at the accident reports, but even if the number is insufficient by state standards I think we residents intend to make a stand and make this corner a safe corner rather than one of the more dangerous ones in town.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this.

PHS Choral Teachers Express Appreciation

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We would like to express our sincere appreciation to the students, parents, faculty, and administration, and to the Princeton Community for their support of our Choral Program at Princeton High School throughout the past 27 years.

Our most recent choir trip to Europe was an outstanding example of the many successes we have had with our young people. It was a glorious experience for all. We renewed our ties with our French friends in Colmar, the sister city of Princeton Borough, and began a new relationship with the people of Pettoranello, the sister city of Princeton Township in Italy.

The Princeton High School Choir was outstanding in their many performances, both musically and personally. The concerts provided a wonderful cultural glimpse of choral music here at Princeton High School, and were an unforgettable experience for all. We were happy that so many Princetonians were able to hear the choir in the European settings.

In its many tours in the United States, Canada, and Europe, the Choir has been regarded as the singing ambassadors from America, and we wish to thank all who have helped make this possible.

News of Clubs and Organizations

"Dynamics of the Rain Forest" will be the title of a presentation by Stephen P. Hubbell to Fifty-Five Plus at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Jewish Center. Dr. Hubbell's research focuses on the population of tropical trees and their origin and maintenance in the rain forest. These studies in basic science are of direct relevance to the management of tropical rain forests. Dr. Hubbell is a graduate of Carleton College and the University of California, Berkeley, and is the author of more than 50 scientific papers and the creator of an educational game, "Extinction: the Game of Ecology."

The formal part of the meeting will start after a brief social period. All men in the area are invited.

Karen Fanta Zumbrunn will present a jazz concert titled "What Is Jazz?" on Thursday at 1 at the Nassau Club. Dr. Zumbrunn has performed in Paris and at the Women's Jazz Festival. She holds degrees from the University of California at Berkeley, Harvard, and Ohio State. The concert is for the Princeton Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the public is invited.

Dr. Zumbrunn will demonstrate how jazz differs from other music.

For further information call 924-0872.

A support group, Resolve Through Sharing, meets the first Monday of every month from 7 to 9 p.m. in Princeton Medical Center's library conference room. The group is intended for parents and families who have lost a baby due to miscarriage, ectopic pregnancy, stillbirth or newborn death.

Call 497-4435 or 4437 for more information.

The Mercer County branch of the Lupus Foundation of New Jersey will meet on Wednesday, May 27, at 7:30 p.m., at the Slackwood Presbyterian Church, Lawrence Township.

Dr. Robert S. Pinals, a rheumatologist, will speak on the clinical aspects of lupus.

The New Jersey chapter, Afro-American Historical and Genealogical Society will sponsor a basic beginner's genealogy workshop on Saturday, June 6, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Missionary Church, Hillcrest Avenue, Lawrenceville.

The workshop will cover births, deaths, marriages, census, military and deed and probate record searching. There will be a brief discussion on looking for slave records. Appropriate forms and literature will be provided.

The three-year-old Society has presented workshops throughout the State and welcomes the public. The workshop is free and attendees may bring a brown bag lunch. The Society will provide beverages. Space is limited. For reservations, call Lucius Bowser, membership chairman, at 588-7816 days or (201) 763-5892 evenings.

CH.A.D.D. of Central New Jersey, an information and support group for parents of children with attention deficit disorders, will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday, June 2, at the Montgomery United Methodist Church, Sunset Road, Belle Mead. This will be the last meeting until October.

School Appearances By Performing Duo

Affiliate Artists, a not-for-profit organization, has announced that McCarter Theatre's Outreach Department has been selected to present Rajeckas & Intraub Movement Theatre in schools throughout New Jersey for a two-week residency sponsored by Bristol-Myers Squibb Pharmaceutical Group.

Paul Rajeckas and Neil Intraub combine finely-timed movement with dialogue, soundtracks and music to create humorous and poignant theater. Together they take physical and verbal partnering to a new height, exploring the tensions that exist between power and control, truth and memory, the physical and the verbal. Since 1987, much of their work has been created in collaboration with Jonathan Wolken, co-founder of Pilobolus Dance Theatre.

They have toured extensively throughout the United States, and have appeared in London and at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival in Scotland. Rajeckas & Intraub are the recipients of two Brooklyn Arts & Cultural Association Downtown New Territory Awards for Experimental Theatre.

They will appear at Littlebrook School here and in Trenton at Robbins Elementary, Cadwalader Elementary, Kilmer Elementary and Monument Elementary as well as Hedgepeth/Williams Middle School. They will also perform at Greenbrook School in Kendall Park, Perth Amboy High School and Ewing High School.

A TREAT FOR LITTLEBROOK: Littlebrook School is one of the area schools where Paul Rajeckas and Neil Intraub will give a performance of their Movement Theatre under the sponsorship of Affiliate Artists, Bristol-Myers Squibb and McCarter Theatre's Outreach Department.

Theatre Arts Program At Villagers Theatre

The Villagers Theatre in Somerset is offering a Summer Theatre Arts Program for students age 6 to 18.

The program consists of intensive training in theatre arts for students who have demonstrated the desire and talent for theatre. The program will run from July 6 through August 14 in two three-week sessions on Mondays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 3:30. For children 6 to 8 years old the theatre offers half-day sessions from 9 to noon.

Each three-week session will culminate in a performance on the Villagers mainstage. Encore Care is also available for working parents from 3:30 to 5:30 for an additional fee.

Janet Cantore-Watson initiated the Villagers Summer Theatre Arts Program last year. Her experience includes supervising similar programs for North Brunswick Township, Bridgewater Township and the County of Somerset. She was also a performer with the Shoestring Players, a professional children's theatre touring company based at Rutgers. She has been an instructor for the New Jersey State Teen Arts Program and the New Jersey Center for the Performing Arts.

She also appears as children's entertainer and clown Togo.

Ms. Cantore-Watson will teach creative dramatics in addition to organizing the program. She will be assisted by five professional arts instructors, three junior counselors and eight counselors-in-training.

The students will also be treated to weekly workshops from professional guest artists specializing in varied disciplines of the performing arts.

Transportation and bag lunches must be provided by the parent. A full-day session is $485; half-day session is $275. Residents of Franklin Township receive a 20 percent discount. For further information, call (908) 873-2710.

Improvisation Class At McCarter Theatre

McCarter Theatre's Outreach Department invites area adults, ages 18 and over, to take part in a new summer class called Improvisation for the Theater. The eight-session course, taught by McCarter's Education Director, Laura Huntsman, will meet on Monday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9, June 29 through July 23.

Participants will develop their improvisation skills through a series of theater games and exercises. Topics to be covered include physical and vocal characterization and the development of scenes

Musical Benefit for AIDS Coming to State Theatre

The Hyacinth Foundation, an AIDS service and education organization, will host "An Event in Three Acts: Heart Strings — The AIDS Memorial Quilt — And You," on Sunday, June 7, at 6 p.m. at the State Theatre in New Brunswick. A project of the Design Industry Foundation for AIDS (DIFFA) and The NAMES Project Foundation, this "Heart Strings" performance and Memorial Quilt display will be the only New Jersey stop in the 1992 tour.

In a state particularly hard-hit by AIDS, The Hyacinth Foundation has emerged as the principal source for AIDS-related services and education. All proceeds from the June 7 benefit of "Heart Strings" will enable Hyacinth to continue its efforts to meet the needs of the thousands of New Jersey residents now living with AIDS or HIV infection.

Tickets for the benefit event are available at $250 (includes front orchestra seating and pre-show VIP reception), $50, $25 and $10. All ticket holders may attend the post show party at the New Brunswick Cultural Center. To order tickets call the State Theatre, (908) 246-7469.

Summer Youth Program Set by McCarter Theatre

McCarter Theatre Outreach has set the dates for its Summer Youth Conservatory.

Theater classes for grades K-eight will meet three days a week on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from July 7 to 30. The curriculum includes a range of classes in creative drama and acting, taught by professional teachers from McCarter's Outreach program.

Creative Drama, for children entering kindergarten and first grade, will meet from 9 to 10:15 a.m. The second and third grade class, which introduces students to acting and play development, will run from 10:30 to 11:50. The fourth through sixth grade class will meet from 12:30 to 2.

Students will concentrate on dramatizing their own ideas, as well as scripted works. Acting I for students entering grades seven and eight will meet from 2:30 to 4. Participants will develop their acting technique through improvisation, theater games, and script work. All Youth Conservatory classes meet Tuesday through Thursday.

John Bukovec, who has taught classes and workshops for McCarter for the past four seasons, will return this summer to teach the fourth through sixth grade class and the Acting I class for grades seven and eight.

Jenna Pergament, in her third year with McCarter Outreach, will teach the second and third grade class. Leslie

Area Singers are Cast In "The Magic Flute"

Princeton Opera's production of Mozart's The Magic Flute this weekend at Rider College has a large cast and features many singers from the area.

The conductor, Dean Rishel of Mt. Holly, is a graduate of Westminster Choir College and Trenton State College. Michelle La Paglia, assistant conductor and chorus director who holds a master's degree from Temple University, is from Pennington. The cast includes Perry Ward as Papageno, Terry Boyle-Greenland as Pamina and Nancy Jackson as a Third Lady. Ms. Jackson, a contralto, was a founding member of Princeton Opera. Mr. Ward made his Metropolitan Opera debut this year in Puccini's La Fanciulla del West.

under the direction of Jerry Rife on June 18.

The series will conclude June 25 with the Blawenburg Band. For more information call 921-6234.

Ninth Season Is Set By Opera Festival of NJ

Some of the roles are double cast. Peggy Brown of Trenton and Elizabeth Dabney of New York will portray the Queen of the Night at different performances. Krystal Hardenburg-Thomas of Stockton will also be seen as Pamina, and Robin Leigh Massie of Ewing and Lynne Snyder of West Trenton will both play Papagena. Others in the cast include Tim Carpenter, Wilbur Lewis, James Gafgen, Lisa Ferraro, Stephen Monk, Kevin Mensch and Rochelle Reed.

Children who have been double cast as the Three Spirits are Megan Wilson, Ilona Ahearn, Amanda Squitieri, Emily Rishel, Aaron Dembe and Jenna Ann Zablocki.

Performances are Friday and Saturday at 8 and Sunday at 3. Tickets are $15 for adults and $12 for students and seniors. The box office telephone number is 882-1234.

The Opera Festival of New Jersey, has selected Giacomo Puccini's Madame Butterfly and Franz Lehar's The Merry Widow as the two operas it will present during its ninth season.

The Merry Widow will open the season on Saturday, June 20. It will be conducted by Michael Pratt, conductor of the Princeton University Orchestra and co-founder and music director of what was formerly known as the June Opera Festival of New Jersey. Madame Butterfly will open a week later, on Saturday, June 27, and will be conducted by Carol Crawford.

Performances will be held in the Allan P. Kirby Arts Center at The Lawrenceville School. Tickets and subscriptions range from $28 to $78 and may be purchased by calling the box office, 936-1500, or by writing the Opera Festival box office, 55 Princeton-Hightstown Road, Princeton 08550.

A gala benefit with a gourmet buffet dinner will be held in conjunction with the opening of The Merry Widow on Saturday, June 20. The cost is $65 per person. Opera tickets must be purchased separately, with benefit attendees receiving priority seating.

Free Evening Concerts Set at Shopping Center

The Princeton Shopping Center will hold its sixth annual series of free evening concerts in the courtyard on Thursday evenings from 6 to 8, starting this Thursday.

Residents are welcome to bring lawn chairs and blankets to sit on while they enjoy the live sounds of big band, string, acoustic folk, brass ensemble and Dixieland jazz. The series begins Thursday with big band sounds from the 1930s to the present by The Moonlighters.

The Joan Cordas String Quartet will play Thursday, May 28. Folk musician Elaine Silver accompanied by John Guth, has planned an acoustic folk concert for the whole family on June 4. The Trenton Brass Quintet Plus One is scheduled for June 11, and the Rhythm Kings will play Dixieland jazz

Madame Butterfly, which has some of the best loved music written for the operatic stage, is a tale of betrayal, prejudice and longing in which the harsh realities of one culture's disrespect for another is unveiled. Jay Lesenger will direct a production based on the seldom-performed 1904 Brescia version. Soprano Stephanie Friede will portray the doomed Cio-Cio-San, and her faithless husband Pinkerton will be sung by tenor Tod Kowallis.

Repeat performances of Butterfly are set for Thursday, July 2, at 8; Friday, July 10, at 8; Sunday, July 12, at 3, and Saturday, July 18, at 8.

"Behind the Scenes"

This year, the Opera Festival will offer a "Behind the Scenes" evening on Wednesday, June 24 at 7:30. Space is limited and reservations must be made by June 1 by calling 936-1500.

Opera Festival has also planned programs for children ages 3 to 6 on Saturday, June 27, from 10:30 to 11:45; for ages 6 to 10 on Saturday, July 11, from 10:30 to 11:45; and for ages 10 to 18; on Saturday, July 11, from 1 to 4. These programs also require reservations in advance, and space is limited.

A family barbecue is planned on Sunday, July 5, following the matinee performance of The Merry Widow. For prices and information call 936-1500.

The audience is invited to picnic under the Festival tent before each performance. Ticket holders may order gourmet picnics in advance from the Festival's caterers by calling 896-3840 or they may bring their own picnics or partake of on-site catering.

Westminster Recital Set For Scholarship Winners

Winners of the 1992 Westminster Conservatory Scholarship Auditions will perform in an awards recital on Sunday, May 31, at 3 in Bristol Chapel on the campus of Westminster Choir College.

The recital will include performances on the piano, the flute, the violin, the cello, and the guitar. It will also include two vocalists. All scholarship winners and those receiving honorable mention will be recognized at the recital and at a reception following the concert.

Students at the Conservatory are nominated for the scholarships by their teachers on the basis of outstanding achievement.

Princeton Pro Musica Concludes Season With Works Noted for Their Quirky Texts

A spectrum of unusual and quirky texts characterized the final concert of Princeton Pro Musica's 1991-92 season this past week as Frances Slade's ensemble presented several performances of a concert program which included music of Benjamin Britten, Leonard Bernstein, and Carl Orff, to texts which would intrigue even the most conservative of linguists.

Friday night's performance in Richardson Auditorium (the concert was previously performed Thursday night in the same hall and then again on Sunday in New Brunswick) also presented Pro Musica in a wide range of size and sound. Ms. Slade chose to perform Benjamin Britten's Rejoice in the Lamb with a small chorus of approximately 40 singers, which enabled her to make the most of the dynamics in the work. This is a work well-suited to a chorus of this size, and this was an ensemble well-suited to the piece.

Rejoice in the Lamb is very British in compositional style, cool and intellectual at times, yet requiring precision and exactness. Christopher Smart's eccentric text, apparently written while he was confined to an insane asylum, requires accuracy in diction — long a trademark of Pro Musica performance. Ms. Slade made a wise decision in choosing a countertenor for the "Mouse" solo; as with all her soloists for this work (all members of Pro Musica), Andrew Megill's voice was warm and appealing. Other soloists for this work included soprano Lee Ann Foster Elgin, tenor Brod Diamond, and bass Sean Elgin.

Ms. Slade presented her ensemble in another format for the performance of Leonard Bernstein's Chichester Psalms. The full chorus was used, with the same four soloists, but with the addition of Erika Doody, a treble soloist who is a member of the Princeton Girlchoir. This Leonard Bernstein work includes many of the composer's styles; at times it is Bernstein's Broadway best, other times reminiscent of his string quartet and chamber orchestral writing.

Touches the Heart

Bernstein's vocal music often touches the heart, and this was most apparent in the second movement, based on Psalm 23, in which the poignant and impressive movement was contrasted with the stark chill of a young treble voice. Some very difficult choral passages took their hardest toll on the men's sections, but Ms. Slade maintained a jazz precision and kept the chorus and orchestra together. Of the four vocal soloists, tenor Brad Diamond's voice in particular seemed to play into the acoustics of the hall and ring to the back of the auditorium.

When it's a matter of abnormal texts for choral works, nothing matches Carl Orff's Carmina Burana. Debates have raged since the piece was composed in the mid-1930s concerning its banality, provocativeness, and—just what do these words mean anyway? Ms. Slade chose to punctuate the texts of this piece by incorporating choreography, provided by Mary Pat Robertson's Teamwork Dance ensemble. Although Carmina Burana has often been performed as accompaniment to a complete ballet, Ms. Robertson chose to choreograph only certain sections, primarily those which pertain to the classic boy-sees-girl, boy-chases-girl, boy-gets-girl scenario — but only after boy makes a trip to the hottest "taberna" in all of choral music.

By excluding choreography from the extended "In taberna" section of this piece, Ms. Robertson may have missed the chance to provide intriguing dance to some very exciting music, but the movements which were choreographed incorporated the liveness and mesmerizing style of her dancers and cleverly elaborate presentations of the spring-like frolics of youth.

The incorporation of dance often relegates a chorus to "background music," but Ms. Slade's ensemble was clearly prepared in the intricacies of this work, including choral unisons which were exact against their stark accompaniments. The solos in this work are unearthly in their ranges, requiring singers to manipulate pitches from the vocal netherworld to the stratosphere. Soprano Robin Lynne Snyder was no doubt selected for her expertise in the latter vocal range, and soared on her Dulcissimi solo, but seemed to struggle with the middle register of In trutina.

Bass Kevin Deas seemed to be most comfortable in both ends of the vocal spectrum and kept the falsetto pitches light and the bass pitches deep and rich. The cruelest vocal joke is played on the tenor, whose solo is translated as "The Roasted Swan Sings." Tenor soloist Gregory Mercer was able to perform accurately in this bizarre register, but did not seem comfortable enough to provide the stylistic flair which might have accentuated the absurdity of this text.

Also performing accurately in this work was the Princeton Girlchoir, conducted by Janet A. Westrick, which provided the innocence and purity which Orff seemed to have in mind.

Carmina Burana is a true crowd-pleaser in the choral repertoire, and Ms. Slade's audience was appreciative. Pro Musica's season next year also promises appealing and significant choral works to Princeton audiences.

"PRUNING PRIORITIES"

Right now is an excellent time to prune your evergreen and flowering shrubs, but don't forget: all foundation plantings require different methods of pruning based on each plant and shrub's individual characteristics.

When pruning EVERGREENS: There are three reasons to prune evergreens...

Winter-Kill... Pruning is necessary to promote thick growth and also to keep the evergreen within the proper bounds. Those which are particularly fast growing, like Arborvitae, Yew, Juniper and Chamaecyparis can cut off light, air and a view from your windows. If you remove the top leader or leaders, you will develop a more full look when the tops are cut and avoid a leggy look. Hemlock will develop a fuller look also, when tops are cut. Pine, Fir and Spruce will become more compact if 1/2 to 3/4 of the new growth (candles) are removed.

Flowering Shrubs... Once the blossoms are gone, an annual pruning is in order. This keeps the shrub in better shape visually and encourages the development of new wood and vigorous growth. Flowering Almond, Forsythia and Weigelia thrive when old wood is cut back, and those branches which flowered should be cut back also. This encourages strong wood for next year's flowers. Prune your Azaleas but lightly. Cut out those branches which were winter-killed, and carefully thin the dense surface growth. If your Andromeda have overgrown their bounds, prune heavily once they have finished blossoming. Although Rhododendron seldom require much pruning, you can do so if you feel the need. ONLY cut above the whorls of leaves.

Correct and formative pruning can give a whole "NEW LOOK" to your foundation planting. The professionals at WOODWINDS (924-3500) will be happy to consult with you about any concerns with your garden. Do call us today.

Titles Unlimited Owners
Return to Book Store

"When we sold in 1988, we had been in the book business for 27 years," recalls Ruth Keusch. "We had opened a store in Union Square in New York in 1961, which was the original Titles Unlimited."

Mrs. Keusch and her husband Art then proceeded to open a series of book stores, all known as Titles Unlimited, in New Jersey, including locations in Highland Park, Rocky Hill, and Princeton.

In the late 1970s, the Princeton store, located in the Princeton Shopping Center, expanded to include the Music Cellar, which became a popular addition with records, CDs, etc.

Then, in 1988, the Keusches exchanged the world of books for the role of inn keepers, moving to St. Kitts in the West Indies, and operating Ottley's Plantation Inn.

"We hadn't any thought about selling," explains Mrs. Keusch, "but when someone came along and wanted to buy, we began to consider it. We knew we didn't want to retire, and we had always vacationed in St. Kitts, and loved it. Sometimes, we would sit on the beach and think it would be great to have an inn there — you know, just a little mind exercise on the beach! But then a property on the island became available, a former sugar plantation. It needed restoration, but it looked like a proper setting for our inn."

"It had 35 acres, mango and banana trees, an overlook of the Atlantic Ocean on one side, and even a Rain Forest with monkeys. It was beautiful."

The Keusches' daughter and son-in-law, Nancy and Marty Lowell (he was the former operator of the Kiosk at Palmer Square), joined them there, and after the renovation, they all ran the inn together.

Life changed once again for the Keusches this spring, however, when they returned to assume operation of the book stores, which had gone into bankruptcy.

Recreating a Success

"The new owner was not able to meet his financial obligation to us," explains Mrs. Keusch, "so we had to come back and take over. We want to recreate what was so successful for us before. We always had our own character of clientele, and we really catered to their needs."

"Originally, the challenge was to create our vision of the store, and now the challenge is to recreate it," she adds.

Since the Keusches had kept a townhouse in Princeton, and traveled back and forth, returning is not the complete shock it might have been. As Mrs. Keusch says, "Now we're back. I am where I am, and this store has been so much a part of us. We started it and the other. It's like our children."

Restoring Titles Unlimited to its former standing will be hard work, but she is optimistic. "This is not going to happen over night, but we are getting a good start. We have very loyal customers, and they have been thrilled to see us back. Since we returned, we have had phone calls with offers to help get the store back in shape. This was from customers who had been friends, but also from people we hardly knew. It was wonderful. They have been so supportive."

BOOKS ARE BEST: "The book business has been a constant learning experience. I never knew what someone would ask me about. In talking to people, I learned. I could talk about cookbooks and needlework, whatever; and there was never a single day when I did not have to make use of the Subject Guide of Books in Print." Art Keusch is back again at Titles Unlimited in the Princeton Shopping Center. He and his wife Ruth, the original owners, have just returned to assume operation of the store.

Adds Mr. Keusch: "Absolutely one of the pleasures of having the store has been the customers. We have had the nicest customers one could hope for."

Some reorganization and renovation is planned, as well as restocking of the books, report the owners. The Music Cellar will also be restocked.

Full-Service Book Store

"We are a full-service book store, and we intend to bring all the sections back to where they once were. We want everyone to know we are doing this. We are going to do some face-lifting and spiffing up, and give the store a fresh look. We also have some new ideas and some surprises planned."

"Also, the Princeton Shopping Center has always been a good location for us," they add. "It's central, convenient, and you can't beat the parking."

The Keusches report that their customers read everything, and they have a wide range of interests. "There are readers here. Our customers like literature — both new books and the classics. Mysteries and science fiction are popular, and children's books are very big with us, as are travel books. Also psychology and self-help books have always been popular."

"I think the reason we had been successful," continues Mrs. Keusch, "is that we really listened to our customers and what they liked. We filled special orders, and paid attention to their requests. Through our relationship with the customers and our willingness to do whatever we had to do to get books for them, we built up a very good business."

She notes that the store will continue its special Book Club, which offers customers a $7 rebate after accumulated purchases of $50. There will also be special sales and many discounted books. In addition, gift certificates and free gift wrapping are available.

"Our full intention is to be what we were," says Mrs. Keusch. "And we want everyone to come in and get reacquainted."

Titles Unlimited is open Monday through Saturday 9:30 to 9, and Sunday 11 to 6.

Porch & Pool Furniture From Extension Patio

"I like my store! I've been running it for 30 and a half years, and every day is a challenge. New people come in every day, and we do our best to make them happy."

After all these years, Barry Troll, owner of Extension Patio, located at the corner of Princeton and Olden Avenues in Trenton, still looks forward to showing customers his extensive selection of outdoor furniture.

"We carry all the major lines of patio, pool, and porch furniture, as well as casual indoor furniture. We do not have sales here, but everything is always discounted 25% to 40%."

Extension Patio has been serving customers for the past 42 years, recalls Mr. Troll, whose father, Sam Troll, opened the store, which originally specialized in toys.

"We are family operated," says Mr. Troll. "I have always been with the store, and my father is 81, and he is still involved. Going back even further, my grandfather opened the first self-service department store in Trenton, and my father worked with him. People still come in today and talk about my grandfather and Max's Department Store."

In 1967, Extension Patio (named for its Olden Avenue location) eliminated toys and concentrated on outdoor furniture, including Redwood, wrought iron, aluminum, and wicker. Patio umbrellas are also big sellers, as are cushions of all shapes, sizes, and styles.

Thinking Ahead

After operating his business for three decades, Mr. Troll says his success is due in part to planning ahead, not merely concentrating on the immediate sale. "We are not just thinking of today, but five and 15 years from now. The furniture the customer buys today will still be here in 15 years. We also carry replacement parts, and have a repair service for umbrellas.

OUTDOOR LIVING: "People have more leisure time now, and are spending more time outside and enjoying this type of outdoor furniture. We offer a combination of quality at discount prices, and the kind of service where customers will be treated the way we want to be treated ourselves." Barry Troll, owner of Extension Patio, located at the corner of Princeton and Olden Avenues in Trenton, carries a large selection of patio, pool, and porch furniture.

"We are very geared to our customers and their needs," he adds. "For example, I have replacement cushions for Bunting Gliders, which have not been made in years. But I had sold so many of the gliders that now I have all the replacement cushions, and I'm the only place that sells them. We keep making friends this way. We are always willing to help the customer, to answer questions, to make the extra call — whatever they need."

When you step inside Extension Patio, it is almost like a visit to the beach. An array of colorful patio umbrellas and a variety of outdoor furniture, including tables, chairs (also swivels and rockers), chaises, and benches recall leisurely summer days.

"The trend today is toward softer fabrics, synthetic acrylic fabric that is soft and pretty and durable," reports Mr. Troll. "This is especially true in umbrellas and cushions. Umbrellas used to be vinyl. Now, there are many choices. We have 120 different umbrellas in all color combinations, patterns, and floral prints. Umbrellas are very, very big sellers, as are cushions."

Florals are coming on strong generally, he adds, and teal blue is the hot new color.

Also very popular is aluminum furniture with Textilene backing and seats. "This is a mesh fabric that is waterproof and durable," says Mr. Troll. "It is widely used nowadays and very much in demand."

"We are very flexible here," he continues. "Our customers like to mix and match. You can have an oval-shaped, rectangle or round table with glass or fiber glass top and whatever chairs you want. Today, swivel chairs and rockers are very popular. We emphasize quality, and I stress American-made products."

Customers from All Over

Mr. Troll is proud of the reputation Extension Patio has achieved over the years, and he notes that customers come from all over the area, including Princeton, Plainsboro, and Lawrenceville, as well as Lambertville and New Hope and Yardley, Pa.

"We have lots of regulars and repeats, and we have had great word-of-mouth. Our customers also include the State of New Jersey and Mercer County, as well as such educational institutions as Rider College, among others."

Extension Patio offers a wide range of prices, with umbrellas beginning at $75, and typically $125. A glass-top aluminum frame table with four chairs is $400, and cushions are anywhere from $2 to $200.

"I am very happy with our line of products," says Mr. Troll. "We try to offer customers a wide choice of quality, and give them personal attention and service. We have a long tradition of service and quality. We also offer free delivery."

Extension Patio is open Monday through Friday 9 to 8, and Saturday 9 to 5.

Farm House Kids Day Care & Nursery School

Deanna Blake, Director

With the cost of living ever on the increase, more and more parents are in search of quality placement for their pre-schoolers, and nowadays a child who doesn't go to a day care or nursery stands a good chance of spending the day in an empty neighborhood. Careful selection of a child-care facility for your child is imperative and in spite of the economy the rates remain the same since the opening. Farm House Kids Day Care & Nursery School provides excellence in early childhood care and education. More mothers and house dads have returned to the workplace. This center's hours are 6:30 a.m. - 6:00 p.m., and structured classes set up by age groups for children of all ages. The director and staff are interested in the personal development of each child. They offer preschool educational programs designed to promote physical development, social intellectual, and emotional experience to help the child begin to realize his or her full potential. Throughout the school year they have an academic schedule and during summer months offer arts and crafts to help stimulate your child's imagination as well as to encourage his or her interests in learning. The setting of this center is the sight of a 150 year old farmhouse with a newly completed deluxe play ground offering the best in fun recreational time and games. This large play center has it all, including tubes, tires, slides, tick tac toe and other games including a recently installed Bura Scape play area. Farm House Kids Day Care & Nursery School is located at 35 Prodelin Way in Milltown, convenient to Jamestown Twin River, Winsor, and Hightstown, phone 443-5844 Call today for an appointment and more information. This child-care center has always had an open door policy which encourages parents to visit at any time with or without an appointment. Farm House Kids Day Care & Nursery School has recently added an infant program and Deanna Blake's future projects include opening a school for disadvantaged children, truly proving the best in child care for all children of every age. The editors of this 1992 Business Profiles Review once again commend this fine child-care facility on its educational and progressive services to the surrounding communities.

Lynne H. Klein ACSW

"Professional Help for Alcoholism and Substance Abuse"

Alcoholism and other chemical dependencies are distinct diseases, not moral issues, and which, if not treated as a disease will progress in intensity and severity. The diseases of alcoholism and chemical dependency have no specific causes, but an array of causal factors...physical, psychological, and emotional which may contribute to their development. Their symptoms, manifestations, and the speed at which they progress varies from one individual to another. Neither socio-economics nor age are barriers to the disease; it is prevalent among the wealthy and the poor, the very young and old. Lynne H. Klein has designed a system of assessment and treatment. Her objective is to treat chemical dependency while motivation and viable support systems, such as family, job, and home are still in place. The program is based on the principles of self-help and introduces patients and their families to intensive out-patient treatment programs and offers continuing care. Lynne H. Klein also will provide assessment and referral assistance. She can be reached at 683-9099. The publishers of this 1992 Business Profiles Review would like to recommend Lynne H. Klein to those who have the disease of chemical dependency and want to do something about it.

Sannino's Plumbing & Heating

Sannino's Plumbing & Heating, located at 16 Oakland Road in Princeton, phone 924-1878, knows the plumbing and heating business thoroughly. They don't guess at your problems - they know the answers. Sannino's Plumbing & Heating understands all phases of this work and they keep up with the latest equipment and maintenance problems. They stand behind their work, and will do a job in the shortest time possible, not sacrificing quality. Sannino's Plumbing & Heating understands that when you have a plumbing or heating problem you need someone immediately and cannot wait days to have it taken care of. Sannino's Plumbing & Heating offers you the best in plumbing and heating equipment and installation, both commercial and residential. Residential jobs, bathroom and kitchen work as well as hot water heater installations are given prompt attention at a fair price. You will like their employees and find them courteous and efficient. If you want to do business with someone you can trust, be sure to call Sannino's Plumbing & Heating first at 924-1878. The editors of this 1992 Business Profiles Review, again for the fourth year, find it doubtful that you could find a more competent plumbing or heating contractor. Call 924-1878; you'll be glad you did. Sannino's Plumbing & Heating and Peter and Frank Sannino would like to take this time to thank all who have been instrumental in their growth over the years and look forward to serving you in the future.

Where the service you receive on your automobile is an important factor, Nassau Conover has established an enviable reputation. The editors of this 1992 Business Profiles Review for the seventh year would like to point out a dealer that considers the most important part of selling a car is the quality service he can offer you after the sale. We are talking about Nassau Conover, of course - dealers for the world renowned American car. See them today or call 921-6400 for an appointment to test drive one of the beautiful Ford, Mercury, Lincoln, Chrysler or Plymouth automobiles in stock! George Conover & Staff would like to take this time to thank all who have been so instrumental in their growth over the years, and they look forward to serving your automotive needs in the future.

Lawrenceville Nursing Home

"Serving the Communities since 1969"

At some point in a large percentage of people's lives, the reality of deciding on a comfortable nursing home comes to light, whether it be for yourself or someone close to you. Today, people are not only living longer, they are living more useful and productive lives. But an increasing number of our elders need some place other than a regular hospital or their home where they can receive residential and full nursing care, and still retain a sense of privacy and independence. The fully trained and licensed staff of registered nurses and support personnel at Lawrenceville Nursing Home are always striving to excel in the daily care and supervision of their residents and their needs. This modern and custom equipped nursing care center is designed for only one purpose. That purpose is to provide the residents a relaxed and happy existence. Their rooms are large and airy, well lighted and exceptionally clean. The dietary meals are prepared to suit the individual's personal likes or requirements as prescribed by his or her condition. This center offer 24-hour supervision by a competent and congenial staff, and the family atmosphere that always prevails here is "second to none". Also, the intimate artistic surroundings here give off a feeling of warmth. Physical and recreational facilities are available to each resident and are available on an out-patient basis as well. Each resident is put on a planned daily schedule to assure him or her of getting the proper medication, correct diet, daily exercise, and plenty of rest. Consultant physicians are on call at all times. A specific unit for the treatment and care of Alzheimer's Disease residents has been added. This center is Medicare approved with Blue Cross and most other insurance plans acceptable. Your inspection of this fine home-like residential nursing home, located on 5 park-like areas, is invited at anytime or you can contact Lawrenceville Nursing Home at 112 Frank Comer Road at Princeton Pike, 1/2 mile from Routes 1 and 95 in Lawrenceville, phone 896-1494 for information. This 1992 Business Profiles Review for the fifth year highly recommends Lawrenceville Nursing Home, where the approach to caring for the elderly is committed to high quality, personalized skilled care in a home like environment with the staff dedicated to treat each resident with dignity.

Penta Hearing Care

Emily White, M.A.CCC Director

Do you or someone you know suffer from a problem in understanding speech - especially with noise in the background? Do you turn the television or radio up too loud? Do you ask people to repeat themselves or speak more loudly -- do you hear speech but not words? Do you experience ringing or buzzing in the ears? If you answer yes to any of these above, then you owe it to yourself or your loved one to seek out professional help. When a hearing aid would benefit you or the one your love, Penta Hearing Care, located in the Princeton Professional Center at 33 State Road (Rte. 206), phone 924-0534, uses the latest in technology for both hearing assessment and hearing aid fittings. The professionals here can fit a hearing aid for you. They are New Jersey licensed hearing aid dispensers and audiologists and have become well established at this location for 17 years. They have been responsible for hundreds of hard-of-hearing people regaining their ability to hear and communicate in a more effective manner. The needs of the senior citizens are very important to the caring professionals here. They feature a 60 day free trial period on every hearing aid. So there is no longer a reason to put off trying one. Also, at Penta Hearing Care every hearing aid comes with a two year warranty and testing while you are wearing it to measure the improvement in your hearing. Audiologists are the professionals who specialize in the identification of hearing problems and in the non-medical rehabilitation of those who have hearing problems. They can assess an individual's hearing to determine if an impairment exists, and they can determine the nature and extent of the problem, and whether a hearing aid might be beneficial. Once the university-trained certified audiologists at Penta Hearing Care determine that you are a good candidate for a hearing aid, they work closely with you, providing the services and hearing instruments required to aid you in better communication with your friends and loved ones. As with all personal needs, particularly such as hearing aids, you want to make sure you are receiving full information on prices, styles, longevity and effectiveness so you can make the best possible choice. The editors of this 1992 Business Profiles Review are proud once again to highlight and recommend Penta Hearing Care to our many readers. We urge you to contact them we know that you'll be satisfied.

Princeton Optical

Operated By Bernardo Nitkinas

At last! An optical dispensary where you can get excited about selecting eyewear! Not many years ago an optical shop was considered a necessary evil, a place where a person visited after being ordered by their eye doctor to fulfill a need. In this modern age, Princeton Optical has changed all that with personalized eyewear suited to your needs. They are located in the Medical Arts Building at 253 Witherspoon Street, Suite A, by Princeton Hospital, in Princeton, phone 924-1117. Here you are able to shop for fashionable eyewear, combining color with function in a quiet pleasant atmosphere. Remember, glasses make a statement, and the optical consultant here has the knowledge to accommodate all of your vision needs, whether it be business or sports. They offer an excellent selection of high-quality frames, and you and your child can be assured of a perfect fit and precise lens fabrication done on the premises. The optician here is an expert, and his pride shows in every pair of eyeglasses they dispense. When you visit, you will find expert repair work and adjustments, and they are always happy to discuss your optical needs. Complete eyecare is available. We, the publishers of this 1992 Business Profiles Review again commend Bernardo Nitkinas on his knowledge of the optical profession. Princeton Optical would like to take this time to thank all who have been so instrumental in their growth over the years and look forward to serving you in the future.

Mrs. B's Cleaners & Laundry

The Difference is Quality!

The term "Quality" may seem hard to define. But according to Bill Brennan it's the right service, at the right time, each time - every time. When Bill and his wife AnneMarle decided to enter the dry cleaning business five years ago, they knew there was a need for the "right" service. The "right" service equated to helping customers solve their multiple and varied garment care needs with a warm and personal approach to customer service. Customers are greeted warmly upon entering the store located in the Grand Union Shopping Center on Route 206 and feel comfortable discussing any special garment care needs or concerns. Fran Fillbrunn, the Dry Cleaning & Finishing manager sometimes gets some odd items to clean or unusual requests. Fran says, "We understand that the customer has come to us because we are the experts, and every effort is made to find a solution for that customer's problem. Many cleaners will automatically turn difficult items away with an immediate 'No!' That doesn't solve the customer's problem. We'll research the problem and most times we're able to come up with a solution." The time was also "right" because both the Brennans were demanding consumers themselves and felt that people were tired of poor service. A high ratio of counter help and special features like EXPRESS service speed up the dropoff and pickup for the customer with a busy schedule. Extra attention is paid to details like pinning shoulder pads to keep them from bunching, covering delicate buttons, rolling lapels, and de-pilling sweaters. All garments are carefully inspected for stains and care labels are checked. Each garment is cleaned & refreshed in the safest and most thorough way possible and properly finished. To provide "ONE STOP SERVICE" a wide variety of additional services are offered, including mending & repair, personal laundry (WASH/DRY/FOLD), shirt laundering, linen laundering, press only, shoe-belt-bag repair & shoe shining, dry cleaning or laundering of household items, and other specialties. History has proven the Brennan's analysis correct, and their business continues to grow in an industry whose sales have declined (as much as 40% for some stores) during the last two years as a result of the poor economic conditions. For these Mrs. B's has recently made a major financial commitment to the future in terms of more energy efficient equipment, not just to maintain the status-quo, but to strive to improve our environment. In addition to these improvements in the back-end operations, Mrs. B's is participating in a nationwide program, entitled "WE CARE", which uses returnable garment bags to reduce the amount of polyethylene bags entering the waste stream. Stop in and experience "QUALITY" for yourself. Mrs. B's Cleaners & Laundry is open from 7:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. every Monday through Friday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays. And remember, feel free to call for advice on any of your special cleaning needs. The phone number is (609)-924-1617.

ART

Pastels Artist Featured At S. Brunswick Library

Award-winning artist Lee Stang Harr will be featured as artist-in-residence as part of the "Art Goes Public" series on Saturday from 11 to 4 and Sunday from 1 to 4 at the South Brunswick Public Library. She will be working in and demonstrating the use of pastels in portraiture, landscape, and still life.

Ms. Harr invites the public to observe and visit with her at any time during her residency, and looks forward to speaking with visitors about her procedures, techniques and the artistic concepts which inspire her work.

Ms. Harr studied art at Central Park School of Art, New York City, and developed her skills in portraiture through studies with Niccolo Cortiglia in Wilkes Barre, Pa., and Jack Callahan of Rockport, Mass. She has instructed in painting at the Princeton Art Association as well as at her own studio in Cranbury.

The series is co-sponsored by the library and the Artists' League of Central New Jersey. Visit or call the library at (908) 821-8224 for additional information.

Exhibits

An exhibit of acrylic paintings by artist Sahoko Okabayashi, of Princeton, will open with a reception in the gallery at Mercer Medical Center, 446 Bellevue Avenue, Trenton, from 5 to 7 p.m. on Thursday. Her paintings will be on exhibit through July 3.

Ms. Okabayashi is a graduate of Doshisha University, Kyoto, Japan, and studied painting at the Japon-France Institute in Kyoto, and the Kito and M. Ito studios in Tokyo, before coming to the United States in 1968. She continued her studies in print making, water colors and drawing with area and New York artists. Her paintings focus on the interaction of color and line and the relationships of positive and negative space.

She participated in many solo and juried shows and in the TAWA/Soviet Exchange Exhibition in Moscow in 1990. Ms. Okabayashi has taught at Miss Mason's School, Stuart Country Day School and Princeton Junior School.

Paintings and works on paper by Laura van der Meule will be at The Williams Gallery, Chambers Street, from May 23 through June 20.

A reception will be held May 23 from 3 to 5 p.m.

Ms. van der Meule studied sculpture at the Academy of Visual Arts "St. Joost" in the Netherlands. She works in both large and small scale, and often employs diptych and triptych formats.

The Quincentenary of the expulsion of Jews from Spain and Columbus' historic voyage are commemorated in a traveling exhibition, "Voyages to Freedom: 500 Years of Jewish Life in Latin America and the Caribbean," prepared by the Jarkow Institute for Latin America of the Anti-Defamation League. The exhibition at the New Jersey State Museum, 205 West State Street, Trenton, will remain on display through June 28.

The exhibition consists of photographic reproductions of original artifacts, documents and pictures which dramatize the Jewish dimension of the encounter between Europe and the New World.

"Voyages to Freedom" dramatizes the little-known Latin American and Caribbean branch of the Jewish Diaspora. The exhibition highlights four principal themes: migration, family and communal life, economy and culture, and Jews and their neighbors. It begins with accounts of Jewish life in Spain and Portugal and the role

Tiger Men's Lacrosse Rallies to Beat Maryland, 11-10; Women Defeated by Harvard, 10-5, in NCAA Playoffs

Respect. That was the main goal of the men's lacrosse team entering this 1992 season. Respect for Ivy League lacrosse. Respect for Princeton lacrosse. After a tremendous regular season in 1991, the men's lacrosse team dropped a triple overtime thriller to Towson State, which was the underdog, on a muddy Palmer Stadium field to be eliminated from the NCAA Tournament.

That loss prompted lacrosse purists, mainly from the greater Baltimore area, to question the validity of the Tiger lacrosse club. Those questions endured through much of this season. When Princeton was awarded the number three seed in the NCAA tournament, which would include a first-round bye and a second-round home game, many lacrosse experts in the Baltimore area took exception. There was no way, they thought, that a Princeton squad could deserve this over one of the more talented Baltimore clubs, such as Maryland, Johns Hopkins or Towson State.

The questions came despite the fact that the Tigers had an impressive record of 10-2 and were winners of their last seven games entering the tournament. They came even though Princeton's two losses were by just one goal, came early in the season and came away from New Jersey.

If the Tigers were to shake off the doubts they would have to do it where they failed last year, on a rain-soaked Palmer Stadium field which has seemed like more of a burden for speedy Old Nassau than a blessing.

It seemed as though the critics were right close to the end of the third quarter of Saturday's quarterfinal game between No. 3 Princeton and No. 6 Maryland. At that time, the Terrapins had overcome a 5-3 halftime deficit to explode for six goals to the Tigers one for what appeared to be an insurmountable 9-6 lead with 2:55 remaining in the quarter.

This Princeton squad is for real. After facing the Maryland rally that would have crushed most teams, the Tigers went on the offensive. Old Nassau netted five of the last six goals in the game to leave the Terrapins by the wayside, winning 11-10 and earning a trip to NCAA lacrosse's Final Four, which will take place next week in Philadelphia at Franklin Field.

For the record, one Baltimore area team will be in attendance next weekend, No. 5 Johns Hopkins, 15-8 winners over interstate rival Towson State.

All-Time Scorer

In the game, one Tiger in particular distinguished himself. Senior attacker and co-captain Justin Tortolani scored four goals, translating to career goals 113, 114, 115 and 116. Goal number 115 pushed Tortolani to No. 1 on the Princeton all-time goal scoring leaders' chart, ahead of "Wick" Sollers '77.

The first half was basically neck and neck for the two squads, with neither team able to set up a decisive advantage. The score was tied at 1-1, 2-2 and 3-3, before Tortolani's second goal put the Tigers up 4-3.

Maryland opened the scoring, but its goal was matched by sophomore midfielder Scott Reinhardt. Maryland scored to up the ante to 2-1, but this goal was soon answered by Tortolani. Senior midfielder Ed Calkins then scored the Tigers' lone extra-man goal to move Princeton ahead for the first time at 3-2. That ended the first quarter, and Maryland opened the third quarter knotting the score once again before Tortolani's goal.

Princeton then augmented its lead to 5-3 when Calkins slipped the ball past Terrapin goalie Steve Kavovit with 16 seconds left to play in the second half. That goal would prove to be crucial, as Princeton's margin of victory was only as wide as that one goal.

The third period was marked by a sizeable mental lapse on the part of the Tigers. Maryland came out strong, firing 10 shots on goal, but more important, getting the rebounds and sticking them back into the net for goals. Old Nassau did tally first, when sophomore attacker Taylor Simmers scored less than a minute into the third quarter, but after that it was all Maryland.

The six Terrapin goals fell within a span of a little over nine minutes, with the first five goals of the blitz coming in less than five minutes. Before Princeton even realized what was going on, Maryland held a 9-6 lead.

A goal by sophomore midfielder Paul Murphy ended the third period scoring and cut the Terrapin lead to 9-7. Murphy replaced senior Greg Waller as the Tigers' face-off man and performed brilliantly, taking four of five draws from Maryland's Andy Claxton, considered by many the best draw man in the NCAAs.

As much as Maryland controlled the third quarter, the fourth quarter belonged to Tortolani and the Tigers. Waller netted a goal when the final period was 45 seconds old to cut the lead to one. Reinhardt, the team's fourth-leading scorer, followed with his own goal more than two minutes later.

Those goals knotted the score and set the stage for Tortolani's and the Tigers' steps into Princeton lacrosse history. At 7:58 of the fourth quarter, Tortolani scored the goal that put his Tigers ahead of Maryland, and himself ahead of Sollers on the all-time goal list. Just to solidify both feats, Tortolani scored again with just over four minutes remaining in the game, to put Old Nassau up 11-9, where it hung on for the victory.

Next Saturday the Tigers will have the rare opportunity to settle another score. Princeton is scheduled to face No. 2 seed North Carolina, which defeated Brown 16-10. The Tar Heels handed the Tigers one of their two losses earlier in the season.

Women No. 5 Seed

The women's lacrosse team had a similar chance to settle matters this weekend. Early in the season, Princeton had climbed to the top of the national charts in women's lacrosse. The Tigers could not remain in that lofty perch for even a week as Harvard pummeled Princeton 11-2 before the Tigers could even savor the flavor of being No. 1. That loss sent Princeton spiraling, and the Tigers would drop two more games in the weeks to come before regrouping to grab a bid to the NCAA tournament as the No. 5 seed.

With that seeding, the Tigers knocked off No. 4 Temple to earn a shot at the No. 1 team in the country in the Final Four. The number one team went by the name of the 13-1 Harvard Crimson, the same team which had embarrassed the Tigers earlier in the season.

Princeton did manage to earn back from the Crimson some of the respect it had lost earlier in the season, but Harvard eventually won the game, 10-5, to earn a bid to the NCAA Championship game. The Crimson's ace in the hole, or the crease, was goalie Sarah Leary. Leary, the 1991 Division I Goaltender of the Year, made 13 saves in the game to stop any Princeton threat cold.

Harvard worked a 4-1 lead by halftime, despite one stretch where Princeton had six unanswered shots, none of which found the net. In the second half, the Tigers' Jennifer Naylor scored just 19 seconds after intermission to cut Harvard's lead to two. The Crimson then proceeded to score four unanswered goals to put the game out of reach, leading 8-2 with just over 15 minutes left to play.

Turning in a great performance in her last game for Princeton was senior midfielder and tri-captain Gillian Thomson. Thomson not only turned in the Tigers' lone goal of the first half, but also blanketed Harvard's explosive midfielder Sarah Downing, holding her to just one goal.

After trailing 8-2, sophomore midfielder Kim Simons tried to help the Tigers claw back into the game. Simons scored two goals, 30 seconds apart, to cut the Harvard lead to 8-4. Simons was assisted on her second goal by sophomore attacker Jenny Bristow. Harvard then outscored the Tigers down the stretch, 2-1.

The last Princeton goal of the year was netted by freshman Ashley Magargee.

Old Nassau ends the season with a record of 13-4, 0-2 against arch-rival Harvard.

Softball in Nationals

In other news from the world of Princeton sports, the women's softball team began play in the National Invitational Championships, which are taking place in Illinois. The Tigers are in Pool B, and need to finish among the top five in the pool in order to advance to the single-elimination quarterfinals. Old Nassau had a good push toward the quarterfinals over the weekend, winning two of three games for a 2-1 record in the pool.

Princeton opened up the tournament with a 3-0 victory over Northern Illinois Saturday. On Sunday, the Tigers

Tiger Lacrosse Heads for Philadelphia Hoping to Make Its Mark in Final Four

Through the years, the Princeton football team has played some outstanding games in the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field. Now, the Tiger lacrosse team will get a chance to write a memorable chapter in its own history in the venerable stadium. A pair of victories there would make them the first Ivy team since Cornell in 1977 to claim the NCAA championship.

This weekend will find coach Bill Tierney's team facing off against defending champion North Carolina in the second half of the NCAA Tournament semifinal doubleheader, beginning at 4 p.m. Top-seeded Syracuse will meet Johns Hopkins in the first game at 1. Syracuse's (12-1) only loss this season was to the Blue Jays in Baltimore, aided by a controversial penalty call.

The Orange and Black almost missed the date in Philadelphia, squeaking by Maryland, 11-10, in rainy Palmer Stadium last Saturday. Slipping and sliding on the wet turf — just as they did against Cornell April 25 — the game was similar to the come-from-behind overtime win against the Big Red. Old Nassau also needed a fourth quarter rally to beat the Tarapins.

Getting the third seed turns out to be helpful to the Tigers, because they will have a better chance of defeating second-seeded North Carolina than top-seeded Syracuse. When Princeton met North Carolina in mid-March at Chapel Hill, it was a see-saw battle, which the home team eventually won, 9-8. However, that contest turned things around for North Carolina.

The 12-2 Tarheels had lost two in a row — Syracuse, 15-10, and Loyola, 7-6 — before playing Princeton, but now have won 10 straight, including a 16-10 triumph over Brown in the NCAA quarterfinals last Saturday.

Should Princeton come out on top in this return engagement, it will be back in Franklin Field at noon Monday (Memorial Day) to play the Syracuse/Johns Hopkins winner. The Orangemen, NCAA champions in 1988-90, had little trouble handling Yale last weekend, 17-8. Johns Hopkins knocked Towson State out of the tournament, winning 15-8.

For Princeton fans heading down to the game, tickets will be on sale at the gate, priced at $14 for the semifinal doubleheader, and $12 for the finals.

dumped Southern Illinois 7-0, before succumbing to Akron 7-3. The Zips tagged sophomore pitcher Lisa Moore for five runs off of five hits in the first inning before Moore was replaced.

In the game against Southern Illinois, sophomore pitcher Karen Drill took a no-hitter into the sixth inning before ending with a two-hit shutout.

The season-ending EARC sprints took place for the men's crew teams this weekend. The best performance was turned in by the freshman crew team, which brought the second-place trophy back to Old Nassau with them. The heavyweight crew finished in fourth place in their sprint, and the lightweight took third.

Palmer Stadium was once again host to the annual Adidas Princeton Invitational Track and Field Meet. In that meet two stadium records were shattered. The old 3000-meter steeplechase record of 8:43.3 was demolished by Morocco's Khattabi Elarhl, who ran the event in 8:27.8, a full 27 seconds ahead of his closest competitor. Morocco's Hissan Salah also set a stadium record with a 5000-meter time of 13:41.2.

Princetonians also distinguished themselves in the meet. Senior tri-captain Jay Richards finished second in the high jump with a jump of seven feet - 2 1/4 inches. That height qualifies Richards provisionally for the NCAA Tournament. Senior Marvin Williams finished fifth with a personal-best leap of seven feet - 1/4 in.

Senior tri-captain Omar Simmons captured the 800-meter crown with a time of 1:50.56.

Ficarro's Tied for 2nd In Women's Softball

Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body women's softball team won both its starts last week, defeating Matt & Al's, 11-1, and edging Dot's Girls, 6-5, coming from behind in the last inning to win it. The two wins raised Ficarro's record to 6-2 and put it in a tie for second-place with Mercer Spring.

Next for Ficarro's is a big test against league-leading Grove Plumbing on Thursday, followed by a Tuesday game with Three Seasons. Both will be played at 6:30 on Field 6 at Mercer Park.

Ficarro's banged out 18 hits in its easy win over Matt & Al's, getting three each from Cindy Lombardo and Grace Durland. Donna Nicholson, Doreen Romanchuk, Dee Discavage and Beth Ault all had two hits. Carol Ann Mazzella was the winning pitcher.

In a see-saw encounter with its old nemesis Dot's Girls, Ficarro's was trailing, 5-4, when it came to bat for the last time in the seventh. With one out, winning pitcher Mazzella walked and Sandi Hibbs singled.

With two down, Nicholson reached base on an error, sending Mazzella home with the tying run. Romanchuk then drove in Hibbs with a single for the game-winner, her third RBI of the game.

PHS Laxmen End Season With Squeaker, Blowout

A long season, long on disappointment, ended last week for the Princeton High boys' lacrosse team with two more losses.

The finale Saturday in Montclair was a 17-4 blowout. Two days earlier, in their final home appearance, the Little Tigers took a 2-0 lead early on against Voorhees only to lose the game in the final minute, 8-7, when the visitors scored with a man up advantage.

Princeton High won two of its first three games under first-year coach Dave Karch — and then never won again, to end with a 2-11 record. Said Karch, "I really feel the team is better than that. I don't think our record is a fair representation."

"If you look at it, we lost three one-goal games, two two-goal games and a couple of three-goal games. If we had won half of those we'd have five or six wins ... but, not to forget, the point is we didn't win."

Looking down the road, Karch says he has eight sophomores on the squad and a starting freshman in Derrick Vernon, who is a real good faceoff player. "He seems to have an innate ability for it," he said. "We have a young team coming back."

Karch noted that there seems to be a pattern established in 1987 when the team that year reached the semifinal round of the state tournament. There was a big letdown, he noted, in 1988-89.

In 1990 and '91 the Little Tigers made it to the quarter-final rounds in the state tourney, followed by this year's season. Said Karch, "I'm kind of hoping it's the same pattern: a letdown after a good season, and that next year will be real positive."

No Surprises

There were, said Karch, no surprises in the contest with Montclair.

Even though it was the day after the Princeton High senior prom and even though he had to sit down a couple of players for skipping a practice, Karch said he felt the outcome would have been the same. The Mounties dominated the game, in which Brendan Branon and John Hagios, with two goals apiece, accounted for all the Blue and White scoring.

The game with Voorhees was another matter. PHS took a 2-0 lead on goals by Branon and Phil Garza. Voorhees tied it at 2 in the first period, its second tally coming with two PHS players in the box.

After Voorhees went up 3-2, Karch shouted from the sidelines, "We're out of synch, fellows. You've got to play smart. You've got to make the good cut, take the good shot. You're all so anxious."

From a 4-4 halftime tie, PHS took a 6-5 lead at the end of three periods. The game was tied at 7 with two minutes left when his team, recalled Karch, "took a pretty suspect slashing call. I hate to see a call like that within the last two minutes unless it is an obvious penalty."

Eric Sutter's goal with 37 seconds left was the game winner. "That one was really frustrating," agreed Karch. "It goes back to our lack of confidence as a team. If we had won a couple of those close ones earlier in the season, I think we would have won this one. We've forgotten how to win."

Garza scored three goals for the Little Tigers, Branon had two, while Hagios and sophomore Clay Gakekar had one each. Garza, Hagios, Branon and Jared Bilanin were the leading scorers for the Little Tigers, and of those only Branon returns.

Other seniors on the team include John Meslin, Jamie Johnson, John Rak and goalie Noah Harlan.

PHS Reaches Finals Of CJ Tennis Tourney

Death and taxes are certain. To the list of "virtually certain" add that the Princeton High tennis team will reach the finals of the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group II tennis championship.

The Little Tigers, the defending CJ champions, were scheduled to meet second-seeded Holmdel for the 1992 Central Jersey title earlier this week. Holmdel advanced with a 4-1 semifinal victory over Hopewell Valley High School. In the past decade, the Little Tigers have won the title every year except 1983.

In last week's semifinal against Ridge, the No. 4 seed, Princeton High was overpowering, in living up to its No. 1 ranking. Coach Joe Diefenbach's Blue and White squad did not lose a single set and third singles Brent Breithaupt and first doubles Phil Scott and Dan Wang did not drop a single game.

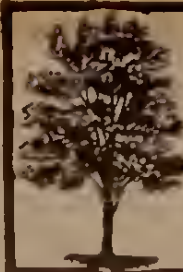

George Khalaf won the first singles by topping Derrick Pittman, 6-0, 6-2, and Jason Cohen followed with a 6-2, 6-2 triumph over Duncan Burke. Princeton's Mike Kestenbaum and Chris Simmons made it a sweep with their 6-4, 6-2 second doubles win.

Should PHS capture the Central Jersey title again as expected, it will compete in the All-Groups championships this week at the Mercer Park courts. Its anticipated opponent: perennial South Jersey champion Moorestown, which defeated PHS a week ago, 3-2, in a regular season match and last year blanked the Little Tigers in an All-Groups match.

YOU CAN FIND what you need in TOWN TOPICS

This year, the Quakers have an edge in experience, having won 22 of 23 matches, while PHS, playing in six fewer matches, is 15-2.

Winning seasons are nothing new for the veteran Diefenbach. Having reached the 300-career victories level a year ago, he is on his way toward 400.

Winning and Enjoying It: PHS Nine's 3rd in a Row

For a team that couldn't win once in its first nine tries, the Princeton High baseball team now has won three in a row and five of its last eight.

The Little Tigers did it both ways last week.

They rode a one-hitter by junior Derek Kaczmarek for an 8-1 victory over South Hunterdon. They followed that a day later by scoring 13 runs in the last three innings to outslug McCorristin, 15-11. McCorristin had tripped up PHS, 11-7, earlier in the season for one of its two wins.

The Little Tigers will try to keep their win streak alive in a Valley Division game against Nottingham on Thursday at the Northstars' diamond. They will end their season the following week against Hamilton and were scheduled earlier this week to oppose Lawrence High.

Hitting, lots of it, was on display in the McCorristin game. The Iron Mikes scored in every inning but one and their 11 runs would be enough to win most ball games. For the Little Tigers, it was a day for fattening batting averages: 14 hits in all, three by Matt Deveau, two each by Ben Stentz, Jeff Spies, and David Chang; extra base hits by Stentz, Chang and Chris Healey. Everyone in the PHS lineup hit safely at least once.

PHS rallied for five runs in the top of the fifth to take a 7-4 lead but the home team tied it at 7 in the same inning and then went ahead 10-9 after six.

The Little Tigers sealed the outcome with six runs in the final inning while holding McCorristin to one run. Sophomore Mike Procaccini, who pitched the first six innings, got the win.

Five Ks for Kaczmarek

Pitching has not been Princeton's forte this season but it was against South Hunterdon. Kaczmarek was working on a no-hitter until SH relief pitcher Mike Godown spoiled it with a single in the seventh that led to an unearned run. Kaczmarek fanned five and allowed only two base runners. Teammate Jeremy Rathbone pitched the last inning.

PHS, in turn, scored all the runs it would need in the first. Two Eagle errors and five hits, including RBI singles by Spies, Chang and Rathbone, produced five runs off starter Ryan Kerr.

PHS increased its margin in the third inning when it combined three more errors and two hits for three runs off Godown. Sophomore Dave Dossin, up from the jayvee team, singled home a run in the third in his only appearance at the plate.

A PREVIEW OF SOMETHING TO COME: A moment after Princeton Day School lead-off batter Matt Varhley beat this pick-off attempt at first base, he was picked off by Hun pitcher Jeff Ferraro, Olin Wilf making the tag. Hun defeated the visiting Panthers, 11-1, in Friday contest.

Chang claimed two of Princeton's nine hits and Sprague contributed a double.

The win was number five for PHS and South Hunterdon's 12th loss. The Eagles have won only once this season.

Hun Laxmen End Season With a Loss to Pingry

In its annual alumni game Saturday, the Hun School boys' lacrosse team whipped the former Raider players, 8-5. That didn't count in the standings, however. Too bad.

The team could have used a win. What did count was the final game of the season the day before against visiting Pingry. The visitors outscored Hun 4-1 in each of the first two periods on their way to a 12-3 triumph. The loss was the seventh in a row for Hun, which finished with a 3-13 log under first-year coach Steve Czelusniak.

Hun had to go without the services of its 20-goal scorer Chris Walsh, who was sidelined with a sprained ankle. "With our lack of numbers, when you lose a couple of players it really hurts," said Czelusniak.

Todd Coyer, Hun's leading scorer for the season, Dave White and Will Tate scored single goals for Hun. Pingry outshot Hun 24 to 11 in winning for the 13th time in 15 starts this year.

Czelusniak loses Coyer to graduation along with Mark Krause, who trailed Coyer in goals but was the team's leader in assists. "Definitely one-two in scoring," said Czelusniak. "It's a big loss for us."

Returning will be Walsh and Tate, who scored more than 30 goals between them, and defensive player Carl Jackson; also White, the team's fourth leading scorer, and both goalies, Mike Conover and Brent Wagner. "We have some good people coming back," acknowledged Czelusniak.

Out of Their League?

As much as Czelusniak would like to predict Hun will improve next year, it may be another tough season for the Raiders. The reason: the caliber of the competition.

A few years ago, when Hun fielded some strong teams back to back, former coach Dave Faus wanted to test his team against the better teams and was instrumental in getting Hun moved from the Bianchi Division to the stronger Pitt Division. Czelusniak said he feels the Pitt Division is the strongest of the four in the state. "Six in our division are ranked in the top 15 in the state."

Hun, which had 15 or 16 varsity players and 20 on the junior varsity, does not have the talent or the numbers to compete with such perennial powers as Bridgewater, Westfield, Lawrenceville or Pingry. Some of the high schools Hun plays, such as Hunterdon Central, Clark, Voorhees and Westfield, have extensive programs with as many as 80 players. "So it's tough in that respect," said Czelusniak.

While Hun would like to drop down to the Bianchi Division, Czelusniak reported that the athletic directors in participating schools across the state are reluctant to make any re-alignments. Hun, he said, had already received its 1993 schedule and the Panthers still in the Pitt Division. "If Hun were moved in '94 that would help our situation tremendously," said Czelusniak. "If not, the players will just have to work hard and dedicate themselves."

PHS Girls Lose to WW In Lacrosse on Monday

An 18-10 loss to West Windsor Monday, coupled with two losses last week, left the Princeton High girls' lacrosse team 0-3 in their final three games.

The Little Tigers have been scoring — 27 goals in those three losses — but their defense has allowed 43. The West Windsor loss was Princeton's ninth in 11 games. It was also the Pirates' first victory ever over the Little Tigers, indicating again what a disaster the season had been for PHS.

West Windsor's Michelle Kane, who entered the game with 47 goals, almost defeated PHS single-handedly when she scored nine against the Little Tigers. The visiting Pirates led 11-4 at halftime. It was West Windsor's 11th win in 13 games.

Princeton got three goals from Daphne Smith, two from Caroline Bustamante and one each from Elise Wilson, Tara Tibbot, Carrie Gleeksman and Dena Graziano, Graziano's first.

Earlier, in one of its most disappointing losses, a charging PHS team almost caught a highly-favored Montclair team but fell short by a goal, bowing 11-10. The home team Mounties (11-3-1) took a 6-2 halftime lead and then held on for the win.

Wilson led the PHS charge with five goals while Bustamante added four and Tibbot, one.

The Blue and White began the week suffering a rout by north Jersey power Montville, 17-7. Undefeated Montville ran its record to 14-0 and underscored just how good a team it is by scoring 10 first-half goals while holding the Little Tigers to none. Both teams scored seven goals in the second half.

Princeton's leading scorers all year, Wilson and Bustamante, led the way again. Bustamante had four goals, Wilson two and Jenny Zar, one.

Playing their last game for coach Joyce Jones are seniors Wilson, Bustamante, Zar, Michelle Brophy, Smith, Sharyl Durkee, Gretchen Strauss, Stephanie Krauthamer, Graziano and Nell Kemp.

PDS Nine Prep Champs, Beating Pennington, 7-0

With the kind of team effort that typified their play all season, the Princeton Day baseball team routed Pennington, 7-0, Monday on the Hun School field.

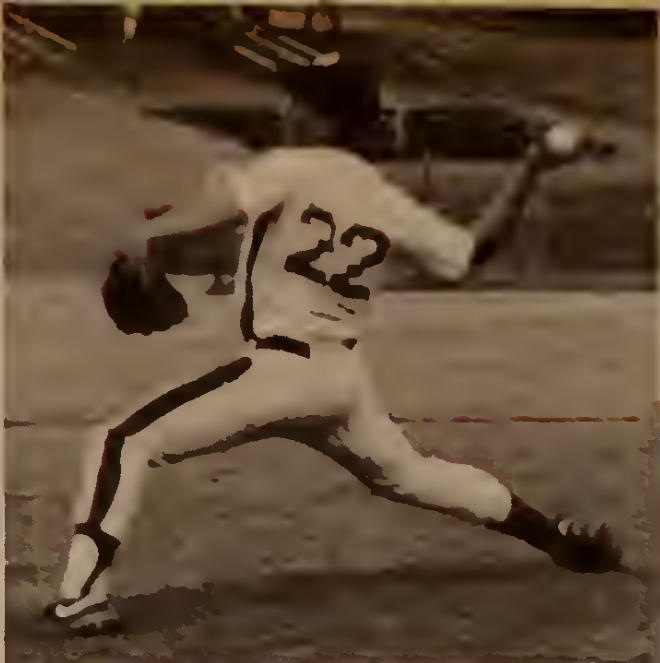

The sweet victory over an arch rival that has certainly won its share of title match-ups with Princeton Day, gave the Panthers their second consecutive Prep B title, the first time that has ever been achieved in baseball at the school. PDS finished with a 13-8 mark.

The team effort began with another superb performance by Mike Laudenberger on the mound. The senior hurler, 7-1, allowed just five hits en route to the shutout. With four walks, he had men on base in five of seven innings, but got the third out every time before a run could score. He fanned four batters.

Catcher Mike Schragger, the backbone of this squad, had his usual solid game behind the plate. At bat he produced a sacrifice fly in the first inning that scored Matt Varhley with the second run, and then delivered the key hit, a two-run single in the fifth that broke the game open.

Senior left fielder David Wise doubled in the first, got an RBI single in the third, and made a fine catch of a sinking line drive. Senior third baseman Scott Feldman scored twice, and started a snappy double play in the first to snuff out a Raider rally.

Varhley knocked in the game's first run with a double, and scored twice. Senior center fielder Dave Jackson scored once, and threw out a Pennington batter at first on what looked to be a single. PDS also had just five hits, but four of them led to runs.

HE SAVED THE BEST FOR LAST: PDS's Mike Laudenberger threw a five-hit shutout at Pennington in the Prep B finals Monday, leading Panthers to a 7-0 triumph.

(FuzzyPhotos by Fritz)

Laudenberger got all the runs he would need when PDS tallied two in the first. The Panthers added another in the third, and pretty much locked it up with three in the fifth, which included a sacrifice fly by Laudenberger. One more insurance run crossed the plate in the sixth.

A third Prep title will be difficult to attain next season with the loss of Laudenberger, Feldman, Jackson, Wise, Schragger, Wes Robinson and Chandra Bhatnagar, plus coach Paul Brown. Brown, who won two titles in just four years, will be moving over to Lawrenceville School.

Final Games End 1-2

In an end to regular season games last week, PDS sandwiched a 6-3 victory over Ranney around a pair of losses to area rivals.

It got bounced out of the County Tournament by Lawrenceville, 12-11, in a make-up game a week ago Tuesday. This was baseball at its ugliest, with both sides making plenty of errors. Varhley and Robinson led the Panthers in this department with four and three.

Pitcher Scott Feldman lost his fifth game in six starts, but didn't help himself much, allowing 12 hits and six walks over the course of eight innings. Schragger had four hits, Wise and Robinson, two apiece, as the Blue and White banged out 12 of its own. PDS even managed a two-run rally in the bottom of the seventh to send the game into extra innings, but quickly gave up the winning run in the eighth.

The next afternoon against Ranney, jayvee pitcher Gerry Cadava won himself a spot on the varsity next spring, pitching a complete game victory. The freshman hurler was in control all the way, striking out 11 and walking no one. He allowed five hits. At the plate he also doubled to drive in a run.

The PDS line-up, which was missing the senior regulars, managed just two hits, but took advantage of several errors by the visitors to score four unearned runs. Vivona had the only other hit, and two RBIs.

Friday, PDS stepped back up into Prep A competition, and found itself decidedly outclassed against Hun, 11-1. In what was supposed to be a tune-up for Monday's title game, Laudenberger was raked for eight hits that produced seven runs in just two innings. Vivona pitched the following four, and allowed six hits and the final four runs.

The PDS offense was limited to just three singles by Laudenberger, Powell, and Wise, who scored the Panthers' only run of the game.

PDS Golf Team Wins First Prep Title Ever

Not to be outdone by the exploits of the other boys' teams, the Princeton Day golfers won their first Prep B championship ever last Wednesday on the Peddie Golf Course.

As they had all season, four of the PDS golfers finished within a few strokes of each other. That more than made up for the fact that none finished in the top five.

Scott Anzel led with an 82, followed by John Leahy, 83, Alby Toto and Dan Bushell, both 84. John Stitzer's 88 did not count (top four scores only), but he could point with pride to a hole-in-one on the 115-yard third hole.

The Panther total of 333 on the par-72 course was seven strokes ahead of Morris-town-Bear. Newark Academy finished a distant third at 347, followed by Wardlaw, 353, Dwight-Englewood, 361, Montclair, 366, Pennington, 379, Rutgers Prep, 397, and Gill-St. Bernards, 409.

Winning the title was special to coach Dave Reeve and the team because it was a team effort, something the Panthers had been pointing to all year long. The prep title had eluded the Blue and White during Stuart Katzoff's years at PDS (he graduated a year ago), despite his ability to shoot in the low 70's.

Now, PDS may hold on to the title for at least another year. Anzel and Bushell, juniors, and Leahy and Toto, freshmen, will all be back next year to defend it.

Lawrenceville Wins Title In Lacrosse over PDS

When you finish a season 14-4, reach the finals of a tournament, and lose a hard-fought game to a better team, how dejected should you be?

Not at all — "hold your heads high, girls," Princeton Day lacrosse coach Kim Bedesem told her players moments after a 13-8 loss to Lawrenceville in the Prep A finals last Thursday.

"You have nothing to be ashamed about," Bedesem continued. "Wipe away those tears. You have come a long way this season, accomplished many things, and played your hearts out this afternoon."

Yes, beating Lawrenceville, its biggest rival, would have been the icing on the cake for this Panther team, but it could still have that cake (or Rice Krispy squares, as it turned out) and eat it, too, after Thursday's loss. The Larries, who compiled a sparkling 14-0-1 record this season, were just a little bigger, more aggressive and a little quicker.

That translated into a five-goal margin of victory, in early April it had been six, but the score doesn't do justice to the all-out effort Bedesem's players gave. They did not come up short on desire.

In the first half, the Blue and White matched the Red and Black almost goal for goal. The Larries' first goal 36 seconds into the game was matched by a score by Meghan Bencze after a fine rush toward the cage.

Lawrenceville won the ensuing draw and scored again just 26 seconds later, but Marcy Webster took charge at the 19:06 mark to deadlock the score again. Another goal by Webster a minute later gave PDS its first lead, 3-2.

Bencze's second goal gave PDS its last lead at 4-3, before Lawrenceville tied it at 4-4 with 10:33 left and regained the lead less than a minute later, converting a loose ball right in front of the PDS cage into a goal. Sarah Berkman, on one of her patented all-out rushes downfield, drew a foul near the goal, and scored on the resulting free position shot to make it 5-5.

Shafto Shines

Lawrenceville came knocking on the PDS door once again, and was twice denied by PDS goalie Cindy Shafto, who played the game of her life. Hardly one of her 16 saves was routine, and her superb goal-tending was an inspiration to her teammates.

But Lawrenceville's ability to win the battles for ground balls paid off and it went ahead for good with 6:11 left in the half. The margin grew to two for the first time with three minutes left, but another dash by Berkman left PDS trailing by just one, 7-6, at the intermission.

As it had in the first game between the two, Lawrenceville came out strongly at the start of the second half. It won four straight draws, and sooner or later converted them into four consecutive goals, leading 11-6 with 17:44 left.

Berkman finally put a stop to this with her third goal of the contest at 13:41. When Webster followed with her third score on a hard high shot a minute or so later, PDS partisans had thoughts of a comeback. These disappeared when the winners tallied their 12th at 9:57 and the game's final goal with seven minutes left.

HOLD YOUR HEADS HIGH! Princeton Day lacrosse coach Kim Bedesem speaks to her players after last Thursday's loss to Lawrenceville in the Prep A finals. Bedesem told her girls they should be proud of the way they played against the undefeated Lawrenceville team.

(AlmostSureShot Sports Photos)

The victory gave Lawrenceville its third Prep A title in five years; Dwight has won the other two during this span. The Panthers, who won seven straight during the '80s, were looking to capture their first since 1987.

Bedesem will lose a pack of seniors to graduation, leaving major rebuilding for next year. Departing will be Berkman, Bencze, Webster, Tricia Frank, Pauline Roberts, Sharon Thomas, and Blair Young. That leaves a good nucleus to build around, including Shafto, Jesse Eaton, Anne Marie Bernhard, Emily Hoover, Britte Lynam, Jennifer Mitchell, Elissa Doyle and Lindsay Sternberg.

You can count on Lawrenceville having plenty to build on next year too; so the Prep A finals may well be a repeat performance next spring.

Seton Hall Defeats PDS In Prep Lacrosse Final

For the second consecutive year the Princeton Day lacrosse team has finished with a sparkling 13-4 record, but once again the Panthers have far less to cheer about than they might have.

A year ago a 3-2 semifinal loss to Seton Hall Prep knocked the Blue and White out of the Prep B Tournament. This spring, coach Scott Spence's team reached the finals in pursuit of that elusive championship, only to lose another to Seton Hall, 4-2, Monday afternoon at Rutgers Prep. The winners, 9-6, had been pursuing the Prep B crown, too; it was their

Hun's Bill Stout Honored

For 17 years, Bill Stout, who died of a heart attack this spring, served as an assistant to Hun baseball coach Bill McQuade. Saturday during Alumni Day ceremonies, with Stout's family on the field, Stout's uniform number 54 was retired in his honor. A plaque was also placed in the Hun dugout in his memory.

"For 17 years he was a coach. We were together for all but five years," said McQuade.

A graduate of Yale, where he was a tackle for the Eli football team, Stout was low-key but very popular with the players. "He was," said McQuade, "an inspiration to anyone who played for him. To me, he was an invaluable friend."

first after three appearances in the finals.

It was the same kind of defensive battle as last year, with the Panthers held to their fewest goals since they last played Seton Hall. "They pressured us a lot, and we did not react well," commented Spence.

"We were real nervous going into the game, and never did settle down. We played so well against a good team like MKA when it didn't mean anything, but with the title on the line in this one, we were tight the whole time. Tom [Griffith] and I had worked all week telling the guys to take this one like any other game."

The victors' pressing zone defense stymied the Panthers' attack for most of the game, and did not allow any scoring from in close. Not surprisingly, both goals came on long shots from Mark Trowbridge. "We did not get off enough shots, and we were zero for four on man-up situations," Spence pointed out.

The Pony Pirates owned a 2-0 lead, on the strength of goals in each of the first two periods, before Trowbridge got his first 50 seconds into the third period. And it was 3-1 early in the fourth, before Trowbridge got his second.

Midway through the fourth, Matt Lewis tallied his third to put the game away. Lewis was the difference in this game, scoring three times when he was able to dodge around a PDS defender, and no one moved over to pick him up.

"It was a tough way to end a really good season," Spence lamented. "I would have loved to have gone out with a championship at the end of the sea-

PDS Tennis Team Captures First Prep Title in 11 Years

There was good news for Rome Campbell's Princeton Day tennis team as well last week. Winning four of five individual titles a week ago Wednesday, the Panthers captured their first Prep B tennis title since 1981.

Newark Academy, which has won the crown the seven previous springs, had chosen to enter the Parochial B tournament instead. Prior to that the Prep A and B players were intermingled in one tournament, with scores for B Schools separated out. According to Campbell, it made the B title difficult to win, if your players had been matched against A players.

The Panthers' 13 points put them four ahead of Wardlaw-Hartridge, which finished second. Saddle River was third with six, followed by Gill-St. Bernard's three, Ranney, two, Morristown-Beard, one. Pennington, Rutgers Prep and St. Mary's Hall did not score.

The only PDS player to lose in the championship round was Hayden Aaronson at first singles, and he had the unenviable task of trying to beat Wardlaw's outstanding player from India, Arjun Cismanathan. Also a freshman, Cismanathan did not drop a set in the tournament, beating Aaronson for the second time this season, 6-4, 6-2.

Campbell praised the play of his second and third singles players, Marc Wirstrom and Jason Bilanin. In his final match, Wirstrom split the first two sets with his opponent, Wardlaw's Jason Williams, 6-1, 2-6. Down 2-3 in the third, he rallied to take the next four games and the match. Bilanin dispatched Gautam Sehjal of Wardlaw in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, after needing three to beat him earlier in the season.

In doubles play, Dan Ragsdale and Mike Brown had to battle back from a 6-3 loss in the first set, to defeat their Saddle River opponents, 6-1, 6-2 in the next two sets. Chris Sheldon and Pat Meehan had an easier time in the finals with Saddle River, winning in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4.

With an easy 5-0 triumph over Ranney last Friday, Campbell's team finished the season with an 11-5 mark, losing three tough 3-2 matches to PHS, MKA and Newark, a 4-1 loss to Peddie, and the annual 5-0 defeat by Lawrenceville.

However, PDS gained a bit of revenge on Hun for squeezing them out of second place in the MCT. In a match postponed from April, the Panthers beat the Raiders, 3-2. In the key match of the day, Wirstrom turned the tables on Hun's Jason Bilik, who had beaten him in the County Tournament just the week before. Wirstrom won in three sets, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Aaronson also went to three sets, beating Adam Epstein, 6-3, 1-6, 6-2, and Bilanin lost in three, 6-4, 2-6, 3-6. Sheldon and Meehan won their doubles match in two sets, taking a first set tiebreaker, 7-1, and Ragsdale and Brown lost a pair of 6-4 sets.

Campbell loses two seniors, Bilanin and Sheldon, to graduation; all the rest of his players will return next year.

son. This is basically a young team, and we didn't expect to get this far. It was a great group of guys to coach."

In addition to Trowbridge, PDS loses its four-year veteran goalie, Jud Henderson, plus Brian Ferber, Jayson White and Matt Young. That leaves plenty to build another good team, but it will have to be done without Spence. After four years as a coach at PDS, two as head man, he will teach at George School next year. He'll be missed.

2 More Victories Recorded

Finishing up the regular season on a positive note, Princeton Day had little trouble with either Admiral Farragut or Hillsborough last week.

The Future Admirals (?) were torpedoed, 17-4, PDS's highest goal total of the season. It was 14-3 at the half and a yawner for the final two periods.

Trowbridge feasted on the inept opposition, scoring five times and assisting on three others. Dan Knipe added three and Patrick Kerney and Matt Shaffer, two apiece. Pat Regan, Reynolds Thompson, Andy Overman, Steve Siegel and Jayson White tallied once.

Friday afternoon at Hillsborough, Knipe sparked the Panther offense with four goals in a 10-3 triumph. The home team stayed within striking distance of a possible upset through the first two periods, trailing only 4-3 at the intermission.

However, four third-period goals by the Blue and White locked up the contest in the third. It added a pair in the fourth. Meanwhile, Henderson, who had 17 saves in all, was perfect in the second half, not allowing a score. Regan tallied twice, Trowbridge, Ferber and Shaffer, once. Kerney, Trowbridge and Ferber contributed two assists apiece; Shaffer had one.

YWCA TWIN Program To Honor Ten Women

Ten women who have made contributions in executive, entrepreneurial and professional roles will receive 1992 Tribute to Women and Industry (TWIN) awards from the Princeton YWCA.

They are Pamela K. Baker, manager, operations services, American Cyanamid Company; Pamela J. Dempsey, president and owner, Morgan Mercedes Human Resources Group, Inc.; Helen L. Duffin, president and chief executive officer, Merrill Lynch Bank & Trust Co.; Lois Fuchs, treasurer, and Susan Haberland, director, business development, both of Rhone-Poulenc Inc.;

Also, Dorinda Jenkins-Glover, vice president/regional manager, United Jersey Bank Central; Debra A. Keiser, senior vice president, Continental Rehabilitation Resources; The Rev. Carol Kerbel, administrative director, Crisis Ministry of Princeton and Trenton; Geraldine Moon, vice president, Professional Practice and Quality Assurance, New Jersey Hospital Association; and Ceinwen A. Schreiner, manager, biochemical toxicology, Mobil Oil Corporation.

TWIN is in its ninth year of recognizing high achieving women in the area. Peter J. Neff, president and chief executive officer of Rhone-Poulenc Inc., and honorary chair of TWIN for 1992, will present the awards at the annual dinner at the Princeton Marriott, Forrestal Village, on Thursday evening at 5:30.

To date, the Princeton YWCA TWIN program has recognized 99 outstanding women together with the employer organizations that have made their success possible. During the year, TWIN honorees share their talents and experience within the community and also serve as role models in area high schools.

Tickets for the dinner are $65 per person or $600 for a table of ten. For further information on the evening or to make reservations for the dinner, call Dalia Buzin-Buffery at the Princeton YWCA, 497-2123.

PDS Receives Grant To Aid Minority Students

Princeton Day School has received a second grant of $50,000 from the J. Seward Johnson Sr. Charitable Trusts to continue its work in assisting Princeton area minority students in making a successful transition to PDS.

The funding also will aid in the expansion of the PDS summer program to include courses on basic writing and language skills for educationally underprivileged students.

In addition, the grant will fund "A Better Chance" sponsor on campus who will work with ABC students enrolled at the school. ABC is a national program which identifies talented minority students and counsels them toward appropriate public and private educational institutions.

Major Bicycle Race In Somerville Sunday

Memorial Day 1992 marks the 49th running of the Tour of Somerville, the oldest continuously run major bicycle race in America.

The tour has been called the "Kentucky Derby of Cycling" and is the largest non-professional sporting event in New Jersey. This event, sponsored by Hoechst Celanese Corporation, features national and international riders including past and future Olympians in a series of five races on a closed loop through the streets of Somerville.

Events begin Sunday at 11:30 a.m., with races for older riders (age 35 and up). They are followed by the juniors (aged 15-17), women, and men. The men's race features a field of 175 riders who complete 50 miles on a 1.1 mile course. The prize list for the day is more than $20,000.

Admission is free with good viewing spots all around the course. Food, drink and tour souvenirs will be available.

Responsible Behavior On Prom Night Urged

HiTops has recently launched a "Promiscuity" campaign aimed at discouraging irresponsible sexual behavior on prom night.

The idea for the campaign arose out of the fact that in 1990, one half of all of the pregnancy tests done for the entire year at HiTops were administered in June and July, just after most high school proms. Last year, however, the numbers were slightly better.

Posters and flyers bearing captions such as "Don't Let a Prom Date Turn into a Due Date" have been put up at both Princeton Day School and Princeton High School. Discussions about promoting abstinence and responsible sexual behavior were held between the HiTops peer educators and students from PDS and PHS and Montgomery High School.

Several area tuxedo rental stores were asked to display posters and baskets of informational packets, including a latex condom and instructions on how to use it properly.

The HiTops Teen Council hopes this "promiscuity" campaign will heighten awareness about the problems of unwanted pregnancies and sexually transmitted diseases facing teens today. For further information about this and other HiTops programs call 683-5155.

Princeton Family Service Invites Public to Meeting

The annual meeting of Family Service Princeton Area will be held Wednesday, May 20 at 8 at the home of Marjorie Blaxill, 270 Lambert Drive.

The agency offers services in the areas of substance abuse, family counseling, children's services, day care services for frail elderly and Employee Assistance Programs.

In addition, it administers the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund for direct financial relief to troubled and needy families. The public is invited.

Littlebrook Principal to Be Honored

The winner of the Star-Ledger's annual full four-year scholarship is given the opportunity to name the teacher who most significantly affected his or her life. This teacher is then honored at the annual banquet for scholarship recipients, which was held Monday night.

This year's top scholar, Ronald Kim of East Brunswick, named Littlebrook Principal Robert Ginsberg, who was in charge of East Brunswick's program for gifted and talented when Mr. Kim transferred into the district in the third grade.

Mr. Kim, who will study physics at Princeton University, designated Dr. Ginsberg because he "did what most others might not have done."

"He made me what I am today."

Dr. Ginsberg wended through school bureaucracy, and dealt with the distress of teachers who had their schedules and routines disrupted, when he arranged for the gifted youngster to attend East Brunswick High School at the age of 9. By the time Mr. Kim matriculates at Princeton, he will have earned the equivalent of 27 college courses of the 32 that are required to graduate.

Dr. Ginsberg, a graduate of Brooklyn College, received his Ph.D. from Cornell University. He began his teaching career in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant, where he recalls encounters with a youngster who frequently challenged him. Dr. Ginsberg relished the challenges, and the arguments that ensued.

The youngster is famous director Spike Lee.

After Bedford-Stuyvesant, Dr. Ginsberg moved to the East Brunswick Township Public School district, a largely white school district. In an effort to build bridges between youngsters, he initiated visits from students in New Brunswick, a largely minority district.

Dr. Ginsberg, a resident of Manalapan, became principal of Littlebrook in 1988.

Slide Talk at Library On Pettoranello, Italy

The public is invited to a free lecture by Antonio Pirone entitled "Pettoranello Revisited" Wednesday, May 27, at 8 at the Princeton Public Library. Mr. Pirone, a Pettoranello native son and an architect with the Princeton firm, CU2HA, will talk about Princeton's Italian sister city, and explain why so many Pettoranesi immigrated to Princeton, and how they adapted to their new city.

Using slides taken during his many return trips to Italy, Mr. Pirone will take the audience on a tour of his hometown and its surrounding landscape. The Princeton High School choir included a visit to Pettoranello in its recent European tour. The hilltop town, with its commanding view of the nearby mountains and valleys, has been likened to a scene from The Sound of Music.

Much of the town has been reconstructed since an earthquake eight years ago, and Mr. Pirone will show slides from before and after the natural disaster.

Residents of Princeton are encouraged to participate in the festivities taking place this summer commemorating the sister-city partnership, both here in July and in Pettoranello in August. For anyone contemplating the trip to Italy in August, the talk and slide show will serve as a preliminary guide to what lies in store for the visitor, but it will also give armchair travelers an opportunity to find out more about the sister-city partnership with Pettoranello.

P'ton-Blairstown Center Accepting Applications

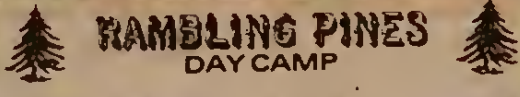

The Princeton-Blairstown Center is accepting applications for its summer program. Two co-educational sessions for youngsters 10-15 years old will be offered, July 5 to 11 and August 3 to 15.

Each session blends the traditions of a summer camp with outdoor living and the excitement of high adventure activities. Campers live in outdoor sites with nine other youths. Each group works with its counselors to plan together their meals, camp chores and daily activities which may include swimming, rappelling, canoeing, rock climbing, backpacking on the Appalachian Trail.

Transportation to camp is provided from the Princeton area. Enrollment is limited and scholarship assistance is available for those who qualify. The application deadline is June 1.

For application materials and further information write or call the Princeton-Blairstown Center, The Armory, Princeton University, Princeton 08544, 258-3340. Enrollment is limited and on a first-come first-served basis.

BUSINESS

New Skillman Firm Is Scan Global, Inc.

Scan Global, Inc., a new export/import venture, has opened in Skillman. It will represent local, regional and international manufacturing and industrial corporations seeking to increase business in the Scandinavian, European and Middle Eastern markets.

A successor company to three other established businesses operating in international trade and consulting, Scan Global provides marketing, distribution, manufacturing and financial services that facilitate bilateral trade.

Principals are Brock Lewis of Lawrenceville, chairman and CEO, a former vice president of Lehman Management Corporation and chief trust investment officer of Marine Midland Banks; and Jack Armstrong of Lawrenceville, president, previously president and chief operating officer of Americana Magazine and MHQ, the Quarterly Journal of Military History, for 13 years.

Personnel Notes

Dr. Jerry Bagel, founder of the Psoriasis Treatment Center of Central New Jersey and attending dermatologist at Princeton Medical Center, was a featured speaker at a national dermatology symposium held at Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York City.

Dr. Bagel's topic was "Practical Aspects of Running a Psoriasis Treatment Center." The day-long symposium entitled "Phototherapy and Phototherapy in Dermatologic Practice" is an accredited continuing medical education activity for physicians and nurses. He was assisted in his presentation by phototherapist Linda Smith, RN, who also practices at the Psoriasis Treatment Center of Central New Jersey, located in East Windsor.

Dr. Bagel, a graduate of Mount Sinai School of Medicine, completed his residency in dermatology at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center. He is a clinical instructor of dermatology at the Robert Wood Johnson School of Medicine.

Bettie Greber of Princeton Junction has been appointed executive director of Space Studies Institute (SSI), Rocky Hill. Mrs. Greber joined SSI in 1980 and has served as director of development since 1983.

SSI was founded in 1979 by Dr. Gerard K. O'Neill, professor of physics at Princeton University and a member of the President's National Commission on Space. SSI is a private, nonprofit organization working to open the high frontier of space and bring a better future to the planet through research into and development of materials and energy abundant in space.

Tod Peyton of Peyton Associates was presented with the five-year Market Leader Award at the Great Estates National Conference. Peyton Associates is a charter affiliate of Great Estates, Inc.

Great Estates magazine serves as a showcase for listings of the estates, mansions and country retreats that require exposure beyond local geographic boundaries.

Nancy P. Morith and Marsha Rosenthal, principals of Rosenthal & Morith, Inc., have established an affiliated consulting firm, Pension & Health Finance Advisory Services, Inc. The firm, located in West Windsor, offers specialized consulting services to organizations and public agencies involved in retirement finance, senior adult services, and eldercare programs.

PRF Editorial Associates, a division of Princeton Research Forum, has announced the appointment of Eric F. Hockings 200 Library Place, as a new director. Dr. Hockings is a chemist and technical editor.

PRF Editorial Associates consists of PRF members who undertake editing projects related to scholarly and technical writing.

Linda Darkes of Princeton, a broker/sales representative with Re/Max of Princeton, has earned the New Jersey Association of Realtors' Million Dollar Club Silver Award for outstanding sales production during 1991.

Her achievement also qualifies her, for the fifth consecutive year, for membership in the Mercer County Top Producers' Association.

FMC Corporation's Pest Control Specialties has announced that Ernie Ballester of West Windsor has been promoted to product manager.

Mr. Ballester has worked for FMC for 10 years in several areas, serving as laboratory manager of the Toxicology Department, and field representative and sales operation manager for the industrial Chemical Group.

Arlene Hauser of Montgomery Township, a 13-year real estate professional, has been named associate of the month at Coldwell Banker Schlott's Princeton office. Ms. Hauser recently returned to residential sales after opening Coldwell Banker Schlott's Belle Mead office in 1986 and successfully managing it for six years.

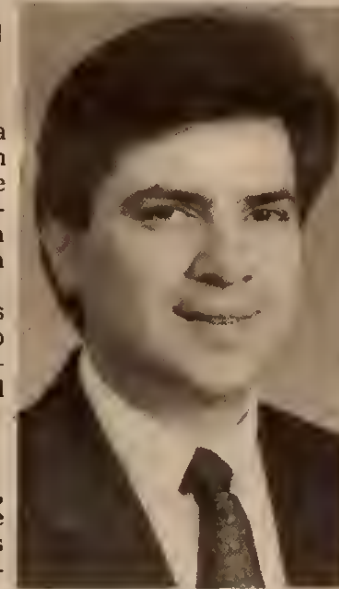

Ms. Hauser was honored as a member of the New Jersey Association of Realtors President's Club in 1985, and also obtained the President's Club level at Schlott that same year. In 1986, she was named to Schlott's Million Dollar Sales Club as well as the NJAR Million Dollar Sales Club.

Princeton Junction resident Estelle O'Connell, of Burgdorff Realtors, has been approved for charter membership in the International Real Estate Section of the National Association of Realtors.

Ravi K. Venkitaraman has joined the staff of Response Analysis Corporation as senior statistician.

He was formerly manager of statistical analysis at Chilton Research Services and has worked extensively in developing simulation models to accurately portray new product/product repositioning scenarios.

The Princeton architecture firm of Short and Ford and Partners has promoted six of its members to new positions.

Ernie Ballester

Mark W. Kirby has been appointed Senior Associate. Joseph W. Alperstein of Hopewell, Alison Baxter of Hopewell; David E. McWilliams, Annabelle Radcliffe-Trenner and Gonzalo Rizo-Patron have been appointed Associates.

The new associates, all of whom have been with the firm for some time, have a variety of experience which they contribute to the 18-year-old firm. Short and Ford is known for both preservation work and new design.

Floors "N" More with Michael Donahue

THIS WEEK PROPER MAINTENANCE OF KITCHEN HARDWOOD FLOORS

Kitchen floors require a separate commentary since wood is especially popular in the combined family room/kitchen or "country kitchen" design. Literally millions of kitchens have wood floors today and perform beautifully, but again, proper maintenance is the key.

Possibly the strongest statement in favor of wood floors in kitchens is, with proper care, a wood floor will provide years of satisfactory service after which (should the floor no longer meet the owner's appearance requirement) the wood floor can be sanded and refinished. Another brand new floor with only a minor investment — not replacement!

Here are some home maintenance tips for the kitchen hardwood floor:

1. Daily, remove grit — dust mop, broom sweep, electric broom, or vacuum.
2. Wipe up liquid or food spills promptly with dry cloth or paper towels. Remove sticky residue (like grape jelly) with a damp — not dripping cloth. If the spot appears dull, wax and buff the spot.

Michael Donahue,
Owner

3. Thoroughly clean the kitchen twice as often as other areas in the home; i.e. family room or entry every 12 months, kitchen 6 months.

4. After the dishes are washed, dry mop the kitchen to pick up water droplets.

5. Place an area rug in front of the kitchen sink. The rug will catch the sink splash, be comfortable under foot, and is attractive.

PEOPLE in the News

Anna Marie Skalka, internationally renowned for her work in the molecular biology of retroviruses, is principal investigator on a $500,000 unrestricted research grant recently awarded by Bristol-Myers Squibb Company to the Fox Chase Cancer Center in Philadelphia.

Dr. Skalka, vice president for basic science at Fox Chase, will apply the grant to support basic research on retroviruses which are involved in the development of cancer, AIDS, leukemia and neurological problems such as dementia.

Recently, Dr. Skalka and her team have focused their attention on the study of an enzyme which retroviruses use to invade the host cell's DNA, replicate and eventually cause disease. This new five-year, no-strings-attached grant will help Dr. Skalka and her team to further explore this enzyme.

Joshua Teweles, son of Robert and Harriet Teweles, 32 Finley Road, a member of the University of Michigan Men's Glee Club, is touring with the singing group in Salzburg, Prague, Warsaw and other eastern and central European cities.

Patricia H. Labalme, 68 Lovers Lane, and Linda A. Woodward, of Skillman, are among 41 women who were honored at the "Salute to the Policy Makers" awards dinner. Sponsored by the Executive Women of New Jersey, the dinner recognized women who serve as either directors or officers in corporations having significant New Jersey-based operations.

Dr. Labalme serves as secretary of the Corporation for the Institute for Advanced Study. In addition, she was associate director of the Institute from 1982 to 1988. She serves on the board of directors of Quantum Chemical Corporation.

Ms. Woodward is senior vice president of Hooper Holmes, Inc., a firm offering home health care service and health information services to the insurance community.

Helene D. Feldman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey L. Feldman, 125 Rolling Hill Road, Skillman, has been elected to the Phi Beta Kappa academic honorary society at The Johns Hopkins University.

A graduate of Princeton Day School, she will continue her studies at Harvard University in the fall, at the Graduate School of Public Health.

Gertrude Dubrovsky, 244 Hawthorne Avenue, is curator of a new exhibit, "Agriculture: Jewish Immigrants, Farmers, Artists in New Jersey," at the B'nai B'rith Klutznick National Jewish Museum in Washington, D.C.

The exhibit, which will run through mid-August, reflects both the history and creativity of families who chose to leave the northeastern cities and establish themselves on farms. It focuses on the extraordinary array of artists who, in the second and third generation, came out of the agrarian New Jersey environment. Among them is the sculptor George Segal.

Portions of Ms. Dubrovsky's documentary film about New Jersey farmers, The Land Was Theirs, are used as a multi-media component of the exhibit.

Marc Glogoff, son of Michael and Sally Glogoff, Rosedale Road, received his third varsity letter as a member of the Colgate University men's tennis team.

Mr. Glogoff was a first team all-area selection at Princeton High School, where his 1989 team won the Central New Jersey Group II championship.

Stephen Moseley, son of Dr. Roger V. Moseley and Caroline Mosely, 113 Linwood Circle, will receive a master's in public and private management from the Yale School of Organization and Management. Mr. Moseley has accepted a position with Dillion, Read & Co. as an associate in investment banking. He will be working in New York City.

Christopher K. Borg, son of Josef and Josephine Borg of Harrison Street, has earned a bachelor of science in environmental sciences with an emphasis in wildlife from Unity College in Maine.

He is a 1988 graduate of Princeton High School.

Airman Jeffrey A. Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Brooks of 7 Mountain Church Road, Hopewell, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

He graduated from Hopewell Valley Central High School in 1991.

Robert F. Hendrickson, 204 Gallup Road, who was formerly senior vice president, manufacturing and technology for Merck & Co., has been appointed to the board of directors of The Liposome Company. He fills a new board seat created through the expansion of the current board from seven to eight members.

As senior vice president, Mr. Hendrickson was responsible for Merck's manufacturing operations, worldwide. In addition, he directed the company's computer information systems, construction engineering, safety and environmental areas.

A graduate of Harvard College, Mr. Hendrickson served with the U.S. Army before attending the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, where he received an MBA in 1958.

Caroline L. Hancock, 90 Jefferson Road, has been named an associate of CUH2A, Inc., the Princeton-based architecture, engineering and planning firm. Ms. Hancock has more than 10 years of experience as a project designer and a project architect for research, office, and educational facilities. She is currently directing the interior renovation and fit-out for AT&T's Bell Laboratories, Whippany.

She received her M. Arch. from Princeton University after earning a B.Arch. degree from Harvard University. Ms. Hancock is also a writer on design topics, and has edited books on architecture for the Princeton Architectural Press.

Princeton University's basketball coach Pete Carril, 118 Washington Road, and its former president, William G. Bowen, 76 College Road West, who is now head of the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, will be among those receiving honorary degrees at Lafayette College's 157th Commencement.

Also to be honored are Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist Karen Elliott House, 58 Cleveland Lane, and Elizabeth Johns, author of two books of art history and criticism.

William G. Bowen taught economics for many years at Princeton University before being named provost in 1967. In 1972, he became Princeton's president, and served 16 years until he took over the presidency of the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation in 1988.

A native of Bethlehem, Pa., Pete Carril attended Lafayette College, where he was captain of the Lafayette basketball team. He graduated in 1952 and later received a master's degree in education from Lehigh University. He coached basketball at Easton and Reading high schools before becoming head coach at Lehigh in 1968. After a year at Lehigh, he left to replace Butch van Breda Kolff as head men's basketball coach at Princeton.

Karen Elliott House, vice president of Dow Jones' International Group, oversees both the business and editorial staff of all Dow Jones overseas publications, international sales operations, and overseas investments and publishing partnerships.

A native of Matador, Tex., she received a journalism degree from the University of Texas at Austin and began her journalism career at the Dallas Morning News. In 1974, she joined the Wall Street Journal's Washington, D.C., bureau and in 1983 moved to the New York office as assistant foreign editor.

Elizabeth Johns is the Silfen Term Professor of the History of Art at the University of Pennsylvania.

Air National Guard Airman Brian E. Marshall, son of Larayne S. Marshall of 197 Eldridge Avenue, Lawrenceville, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. He is a 1989 graduate of Lawrence High School.

Eleanor Graves of Princeton has won a departmental award at Beloit College's Honors Day Convocation.

She earned the Beloit Janesville Symphony Orchestra Solo Performance Award. The prize is given to the outstanding student performer at the Wisconsin college on the recommendation of the music faculty and the symphony director, based on competitive auditions this spring.

Princeton Junction resident Susan Osborn had her first novel, Surviving the Wreck, published last February by Henry Holt. A portion of the novel first appeared in the 1989 edition of the Kelsey Review, Mercer County Community College's literary magazine written by people who live and work in Mercer County. The Review contained an abridged version of the first 15 pages of the book.

Ms. Osborn taught English composition and gender studies at Rutgers and SUNY New Paltz. She is currently working on a selection of short stories.

Theodore Draper, 35 Linwood Circle, writer, historian and "citizen-author," will receive a doctor of letters degree from Emory University, Atlanta.

An intellectual in the tradition of Tocqueville, Henry Adams and Barbara Tuchman — gifted writers who have no advanced degree but bring to their work scholarly rigor and enormous powers of observation — Mr. Draper has helped reshape understanding of history and of America.

A native of Brooklyn, he earned a bachelor's degree from Brooklyn College and then began a career as a journalist, covering such subjects as Castro, the Middle East, Vietnam, African-American history and the Caribbean, as well as American politics and foreign relations.

Mr. Draper has written 12 books that bridge the gap between journalism and history. His essays have appeared in Encounter and The New Republic, and he is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

In 1978, Emory's Robert W. Woodruff Library acquired Mr. Draper's archives on the history of American communism.

C-Tec Franchise

service provided by the cable operator, it may waive this provision, in which case the franchise will automatically be nine years, the maximum term as stated in the agreement.

The negotiators agreed that the Cable Television Committee will remain a standing committee throughout the life of the franchise term. It will be authorized to meet with the company on a quarterly basis, communicating municipal and citizen complaints and coordinating public access programming for the Princeton community.

In the resolution, C-Tec says it will make every effort to repair service outages within 24 hours of their being reported and if the repair is not made will reimburse each affected subscriber at a rate of two times the subscriber's daily fee. C-Tec will also continue to provide a toll free telephone number for customer calls and to institute drop-off points in the Borough and Township for customers to exchange converters and make payments.

C-Tec also agrees to notify the municipality at least 30 days in advance of any proposed rate increase and to publish its rates for all subscriber services in its monthly cable guide.

At Least 77 Channels

Although C-Tec has proposed a complete rebuild of the Princeton system, the company and the Cable Television Committee have agreed that the resolution does not require the company to complete any such rebuild. The system will have no fewer than 77 channels and retain two-way capabilities. C-Tec agrees to provide a stereo signal to Princeton subscribers on each channel that it offers if the signal is available to C-Tec in stereo.

The resolution includes a dozen provisions in regard to local and public access. C-Tec will make $50,000 worth of new equipment available to the Cable TV Committee, and it will also provide $2 per subscriber, or about $11,000, for use by the Committee in managing the various local networks.

Arts Council to allow programming to originate from these locations via the Institutional Network. C-Tec further agrees to continue to provide up to $2,500 per year for extension of this network.

C-Tec will provide an educational access channel, a public access channel, and Borough, Township, University and Community College access channels. One stipulation of the resolution states that "C-Tec shall continue to produce local origination programming of interest to the citizens of Princeton, and shall make every effort to expand and improve upon the programming being offered." Further, C-Tec agrees to provide technical assistance and training without charge to the Cable Committee and to assist in the production of public access programming.

$20,000 Settlement

Finally, C-Tec has agreed to pay a lump sum of $20,000 in settlement of Princeton's claim that it was promised that amount per year for public access programming under the original franchise but never received any money for this purpose. The money will be split evenly between the two municipalities for use by the Cable TV Committee.

Township Mayor Richard C. Woodbridge called the agreement "extraordinarily creative, very imaginative and a good way to deal with this situation," given the limits imposed on municipalities by federal legislation in regard to regulating cable TV.

Committeewoman Phyllis Marchand moved for approval of the resolution, which was seconded by Committeeman Laurence Glasberg.

In other business, Committee issued a proclamation honoring William Rodweller for 50 years of service as a volunteer firefighter and driver with Engine Co. No. 1. The proclamation noted that the tradition of volunteer service began with Mr. Rodweller's father Elmer in 1914 and extended to his brother Ray, who began serving in 1949. Mr. Rodweller himself began with Engine Co. No. 1 in 1942.

Airplane Crash

Lt. Chrusz, a large branch had pierced the cabin compartment, which was crushed.

Rescue workers used a large ladder to reach the victims, who, Lt. Chrusz said, "were obviously dead." The flight originated and was to terminate at the airport.

The exact time of the crash is uncertain. Police were notified by the New Jersey Civil Air Patrol at 2:28. A beacon from the plane's emergency locator transponder was activated on impact and picked up by satellites. Search planes apparently spent some time trying to find the downed plane in the darkness.

The wreckage was spotted by another pilot taking off from the airport.

Cause Under Investigation

Montgomery Township emergency rescue personnel, police and federal aviation investigators converged on the scene. The cause of the crash is under investigation by the National Transportation Safety Board. Police said they expect a statement would be issued soon.

According to the registration number, said Lt. Chrusz, the plane is owned by D.G. Aero Sales of Rocky Hill, a rent-a-plane company.

Mr. McKinzie, a graduate of Santa Monica High School, was a mechanical and aerospace engineer major at the University and participated in the Air Force ROTC program. He was a member of the Cottage Club and played on the school's volleyball team.

He is survived by his father, Carl W. McKinzie, his mother who uses her maiden name, Rowena Ann Williams, and two brothers, Carl W. Jr., who graduated from Princeton University in 1989, and Clinton Gates McKinzie.

Ms. Goudie was also a student at the School of Engineering and Applied Science, majoring in chemical engineering. A graduate of Unionville High School in Unionville, Pa., where she was the opinion editor of the school newspaper and president of the student council, she was president of the Tigerlilies at Princeton, an all-woman singing group. She had also participated in the Freshman Singers.

She was a member of the Society of Women Engineers and the Colonial Club.

Surviving are her parents, William and Donna M. Goudie of Kennett Square, a brother Brett W. Goudie and a sister, Karyn B. Goudie.

In a statement, Princeton President Harold T. Shapiro said, "The loss of these two bright, young people is an enormous tragedy that will be felt by all members of the University community."

"I am sure that all on campus join me in expressing our deepest condolences to the families of Morgan and Michelle. To their friends and associates here and at home, I can only add my own sincere regret."

Drug Raid

to distribute marijuana within a school zone, possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, distribution of marijuana, growing marijuana at the 17 Olden address, possession of drug paraphernalia, an additional count of possession with intent to distribute marijuana and an additional count of possession with intent to distribute within a school zone.

Strong was charged with two counts of possession with intent to distribute, distribution of marijuana and distribution within a school zone, two counts of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute within a school zone and with growing marijuana.

Bloom was charged with two counts of possession with intent to distribute, two of the same charge with intent to distribute in a school zone and one count of distribution of marijuana and one of distribution within a school zone.

Sanders and Mainelli were both charged with possession of marijuana and Mainelli was also charged with possession of drug paraphernalia. In the lone charge not involving marijuana, Semins was charged with possession of Methadone, a form of methamphetamine.

The exact amount of the seized marijuana had not been weighed yet when Capt. Hanley reported the arrests.

OBITUARIES

Charles D. Harris, 58, of Manahawkin, died May 18 at Southern Ocean County Hospital, Manahawkin.

Born in Kingston, Mr. Harris lived in Princeton before moving to Manahawkin six years ago. For 25 years, he was a police detective for the Borough Police Department, retiring in 1984. At the time of his death he was employed in the maintenance department of the Engleside Inn, Beach Haven, Long Beach Island.

Mr. Harris was a Korean War veteran serving in the 82nd Air Borne Division. He was a member of the Beach Haven Loyal Order of Moose, Lodge No. 1575 and a member of the P.B.A. Local No. 130.

Surviving are his wife, the former Carole Tamasi; a son, Charles Jr. of Princeton; two daughters, Pamela Posch of Manahawkin and Deborah Harris of Rockaway; two sisters, Marilyn Coffee of West Trenton and Barbara Woolbridge of West Hartford, Conn.; and a grandchild.

The service will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Thos L. Shinn Funeral Home, 10 Hilliard Drive, Manahawkin. Interment will be private. Friends may call this Wednesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. at the funeral home. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Mid-Jersey Chapter of the National M.S. Society, 801 Belmar Plaza, Belmar.

Dawon Kahng, president of the NEC Research Institute in Princeton, died on May 13 at St. Peter's Hospital in New Brunswick of complications following emergency surgery for a ruptured aortic aneurysm. He was 61 and a resident of Princeton.

Dr. Kahng, a physicist, was born in Seoul, Korea and came to the United States in 1955 to study at Ohio State University from which he received a Ph.D. in 1959. He subsequently joined Bell Telephone Laboratories (now AT&T Bell Laboratories) in Murray Hill, where he distinguished himself over the next 28 years as a prominent inventor in the field of solid state devices.

Dr. Kahng's most significant inventions included the first operative silicon MOS transistor, the basic element in most of today's electronic apparatus, and the floating gate memory cell, the basic element in many forms of semiconductor memory devices. He also made important contributions to the fields of Schottky junction devices and electroluminescence.

In 1984, he was made a Bell Laboratories Fellow in recognition of his outstanding research efforts.

After retiring from Bell Laboratories, Dr. Kahng became the founding president, in 1988, of the NEC Research Institute, which conducts long-term basic research in sciences underlying future computer and communications technology. The NEC Research Institute was established by NEC Corporation, a global leader in computers, communications and semiconductors.

Dr. Kahng received many awards and much recognition throughout his long career, including the Stuart Ballantine Medal of the Franklin Institute and the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the College of Engineering of Ohio State University. He was elected a Fellow of IEEE.

Surviving are his wife Young Hee, four daughters, a son and a grandchild.

John P. Hanlon, 55, of West Windsor, died May 15 at home.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., and formerly of East Brunswick and Lawrenceville, he had lived in West Windsor for the past three years. He was an accounting clerk with Bristol-Myers Squibb for more than 35 years.

Surviving are his wife, Betsy P. Hanlon; a son, Thomas J. Hanlon, at home; a daughter, Michele L. Hanlon of Frenchtown; and an aunt, Suzanne Hanlon of the Bronx, N.Y.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Monday at St. Paul Roman Catholic Church. Memorial contributions may be made to the Hospice Care Program or the Special Care Unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Olga T. Johansen, 92, of Griggstown, died May 17 at home.

Born in Brooklyn, Mrs. Johansen lived there until she moved to Griggstown in 1960. She was a member of the Griggstown Reformed Church and the Ruth Circle of the church. She was also a member of Franklin Park Senior Citizens Club.

Wife of the late Adolph Johansen, who died in 1969, she is survived by a daughter, Evelyn J. Peters of Griggstown; a grandson, Raymond H. Peters Jr. of Charleston, S.C.; a granddaughter, Susan P. Mattern of Schnecksville, Pa.; and four great-granddaughters.

The service was scheduled to be held this Wednesday, May 20, at 10:30 at Griggstown Reformed Church, the Rev. Dennis L. Ferguson, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Griggstown Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to Griggstown Reformed Church Memorial Fund, RD 1, Princeton 08540.

David J. Anderson, 73, of Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction, died May 13 at home.

Born in New York City, Mr. Anderson lived in Princeton Junction for 22 years. He retired in 1985 from the administration department of the New Jersey State Department of Corrections after 30 years of employment.

Surviving are his wife, Grace C. Anderson; two sons, John R. of Wycoff and Peter J. of Littleton, Colo.; two sisters, Elizabeth Coriell of Fords and Helen Collins of Yonkers, N.Y.; and four grandchildren.

A memorial service was held Sunday at the Unitarian Church.

Burle G. Richardson, 93, of Princeton, died May 18 at his home.

Born in Charles City, Va., Mr. Richardson lived in Buffalo, N.Y., before moving to Princeton in 1926. He retired in 1976 as an engineer with University Cleaners and Laundry, formerly on Moore Street, where he had worked for 46 years. He was a member of First Baptist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Viola Davis Richardson; two sons, Raymond of Detroit, Mich., and Ralph of Hamilton Township; a daughter, Nora Banks of Princeton; seven grandchildren; two great-grandchildren and several nieces.

A graveside service will be held this Wednesday, May 20 at 1:30 at Princeton Cemetery, the Rev. Michael Nabors officiating.

CONSTITUTION HILL

We have just listed this wonderful residence which is about as ideally located as you can possibly be in Constitution Hill in Princeton's western section.

A few steps to the Pavillion, formal garden and community swimming pool, while easily reached by Constitution Hill West, it is also very close to the circle of Constitution Hill East by the original mansion. A very handy feature for parking while entertaining.

The stone-floored entrance hall leads to a living/dining room with marble-faced fireplace, cathedral ceiling and sliding doors to the deck which is in a very private fenced garden area. There is a large modern eat-in-kitchen. The first floor master bedroom, with adjoining dressing room and bath and cedar-lined closets, also opens to the enclosed garden deck area. Upstairs there is a great balcony/study which overlooks the living room, a spacious double bedroom and full bath. Of course there is a two-car garage, lots of those special extras that you really should see to appreciate. Call us today for an appointment to see this great Princeton residence.

New Listing

If you have the dream of restoring a once magnificent mansion of 35 rooms sheltered by the towering trees of the former Russell estate — and you have vision, endless patience and lots of money, this is for you! The scrubbed almond brick of the exterior and the new red tiled roof are deceptive and raise expectations. They are not yet realized in the interior. Remnants of ornate moldings and carved pillars seem to plead for a guardian angel who will appear and miraculously make it again — a mansion.

Built by Bowers in yesteryear this handsome brick and frame Colonial blends perfectly with its almost two acres of sweeping lawns, towering oaks, perennial gardens, and a picturesque fish pond. The interior plan, architecturally oriented to the garden views, has a wide entry hall, well proportioned living room with fireplace and two pairs of French doors to a raised stone terrace, and a formal dining room. Cozy study with brick corner fireplace and a lovely updated kitchen with island and breakfast space looking to the gardens plus a flower-laundry room and powder room. Upstairs, two bedrooms each with its own bath plus a private master suite with its own bath, and on the third floor a wonderful teen world with two newly renovated bedrooms and bath — in all, five bedrooms and four and a half baths. All of this most tastefully decorated and in perfect order. Central air.

Princeton Small Animal Rescue League

SAVE

The Princeton Small Animal Rescue League SAVE is a private, non-profit, animal shelter that cares for lost or abandoned cats and dogs in the Princeton area. It is supported almost entirely by contributions and is the only service of its kind in Princeton.

If you lose a pet or find a stray contact our executive director, Mrs. Graves or call small animal control officer, Mr. Heavener, at 924-2728 and leave a message. Also call the WHWH Pet Patrol, 924-3600. If you're interested in adopting a pet call Mrs. Graves.

Be sure your dog or cat is inoculated against rabies. Remember to have your pet spayed or neutered.

Mrs. A. C. Graves, Executive Director
900 Herrontown Road

New Listing

Ageless trees on the original Edgerstoune estate and a circular driveway enhanced by flowering shrubs and a rock garden with pool, create a beautiful setting for this handsome house. Sheltered by a small pillared porch, massive double doors open to a dramatic two story foyer with stairs to a balcony above. The living room is gracious, with fireplace and French doors to a deck. French doors also open from the formal dining room with fireplace and the superb kitchen with its large center island and windowed breakfast area. The adjoining deck offers summer dining and a refreshing dip in the hot tub. The master bedroom is spacious and has a glamorous bath. Upstairs — three bedrooms, each opening to a rear balcony, and 2 baths. On the lower level, a carpeted recreation room and mirrored exercise room. A truly charming home that lends itself to formal entertaining and everyday living with style. $795,000
